GEN. FOSTER AT THE POST OF DANGER.

Skirmishing and Some Loss of Life.

From Our Special Correspondent.

ON BOARD U. S. STEAMER ——, BELOW WASHINGTON, N. C., Thursday, April 2, 1863.

On Monday, the 30th of March, a strong force of rebels, under Gens. HILL and PETTIGREW, marched suddenly on Washington, N. C. There are, as nearly as can be ascertained, about ten thousand of them around the north side of the town, and seven regiments are on the south bank of the Pamlico River. At their first appearance, skirmishers had been sent out by our forces, and were driven back with considerable loss. Two companies of the Forty-fourth Massachusetts marched right into an ambuscade, knowing nothing of it until a short turn in the road brought them under a withering fire of musketry, from an overwhelming force, at short range. Some of the First regiment of loyal North Carolina troops, under Capt. LYON, were badly cut up a little further down the river, and barely escaped with their boats. Three of their number were killed and six or eight wounded. Among the latter was Capt. LYON. As soon as she could ascertain the whereabouts of the enemy, the gunboat Commodore Hull opened on them with shell, and drove them off for the time being; but during the night the rebels intrenched themselves as follows: Those on the north of the town took position on Red Hill, an elevation about two and a half miles from town, which commands the national fortifications. The rebels on the south side of the town occupied Hill's Point, about six miles below, on which was a deserted earthwork, and placed eight field-pieces in position to command the barricades in the stream and the channel, which winds quite close in shore at this point. They were thus enabled to deliver a plunging fire on any vessel attempting to pass. They also took up the buoys at the passage in the "barricades," making it impossible for large vessels to run by them without being snagged.

Further up the river, Rodman's Point was fortified, and on the same bend of the stream a second battery was placed, thus entirely commanding the channel, which, from that place to town, is very narrow and crooked. On Tuesday the Commodore Hull's upper works were badly shattered by the rapid firing of these two batteries as she lay aground. She used up all her ammunition, and had to receive the fire of the rebels without replying, but she still kept her flag up. Badly as the vessel is damaged, but three of her men were wounded—and they slightly.

I am informed by one of her officers that she was struck by thirty shots, and not seventy, as some have reported it.

During the day a lighter with dispatches from the beleaguered garrison managed to run the batteries by keeping shoal-water at some distance from the fortifications. She was able to get through with only one shot, which struck her midship. The dispatches brought by her were promptly replied to, and gunboats were forthwith dispatched. The transports Gens. Prince and Spinola also started forthwith with reinforcements, but unfortunately they were not able to pass the rebel earthworks, and are awaiting more help in order to reduce the batteries commanding the river.

On Thursday, a small lighter was run out of the town with dispatches, and on her returning she carried a fresh supply of ammunition. Mr. V. GILBERT, who performed this daring feat, it is said, set fire to the railroad bridge at Newbern before the battle there, in order to enable Gen. BURNSIDE to "bag" the whole body of rebels which were retreating before him. The fire was extinguished by sentries on the bridge. Mr. GILBERT and companion were fired at, but escaped in safety in a small boat.

The rebel Gen. HILL has notified the Commander of the National forces at Washington to remove the women and children, as he intended to shell the town. Up to the present time, however, there has been no direct attack upon the town, as the gunboats have kept the rebel batteries busily engaged.

FRIDAY, April 3.

Major-Gen. FOSTER is at the post of danger, and even without additional assistance it is thought that he can hold the enemy in check. More gunboats arrived to-day, and it is expected that to-morrow morning (4th) will witness a fine display of "nine-inch" and "100-pounder rifle shell," for the special amusement of the obnoxious batteries. There is, however, a possibility that the town will be vigorously attacked by an overwhelming force, and that it will be burned before the gunboats can work their way up the crooked channel without "buoys."

The rough diagram which I inclose shows the position of the three gunboats—the Louisiana, Commodore Hull and Eagle—also of the "fort," the "block-houses," and the breast-work and ditch which runs completely around the town. It is apparent from this sketch that Washington will be a formidable place to take, although it is defended by not more than two thousand troops. The fort is a sodded earthworth. It is surrounded by a deep ditch and a formidable abattis.

It is rumored that JEFF. DAVIS has declared that "North Carolina must be cleared of Yankees," and that Gen. HILL has promised to accomplish the task with forty thousand men. R. B.

[The diagram of the position referred to by our correspondent reaches us at too late an hour to be made available.—ED. TIMES.]

ADVICES RECEIVED FROM NEWBERN.

The United States steam transport Ellen S. Terry, Capt. CHAPIN, arrived at this port yesterday from Newbern, N. C., bringing a number of discharged, disabled and sick soldiers, and several passengers. She was boarded by our reporter, who gathered from the officers such intelligence in regard to affairs at Washington as had reached Newbern previous to their sailing. Their reports, however, are neither so direct nor so reliable as those in our correspondent's letter, given above.

It appears that on the 25th ult., Gen. FOSTER, with a portion of SPINOLA'S and PRINCE'S brigades, comprising the Pennsylvania regiments of Cols. MCKIBBIN, DYER, BEAR, the Twelfth New-York, the One Hundred and Fifty-seventh New-York and the First North Carolina Volunteers, started for Little Washington on the junction of the Tar and Pamlico rivers, to reinforce the Union troops who held that place, an attack from the rebels being expected. The rebels had, unknown to our forces, erected a very powerful battery on Swan Point, some five miles below Washington, which commands the channel. Thus communication with the base of supplies, Newbern, was cut off. Gen. FOSTER had managed, by means of small boats, however, to send word to Newbern, ordering reinforcements.

Gen. HILL, with some 5,000 rebels, approached FOSTER'S position from the land side and thus surrounded him.

This must have occurred on Tuesday or Wednesday of last week, for cannonading was heard quite plainly at Newbern on the 1st, 2d and 3d. On the afternoon of the latter day there was a cessation of firing, but what was the cause nobody could tell, as communication was cut off.

The rebel battery is erected on a very high bluff, and no vessel could approach to Washington nearer than eight miles; still, the One Hundred and First Pennsylvania and a Massachusetts regiment were sent on Friday from Newbern to Gen. FOSTER, but it was considered doubtful whether they would reach him. There was, however, no anticipation of a disaster, as Gen. FOSTER was thought to be sufficiently strongly intrenched to hold out for at least a fortnight, by which time the blockade would be raised by the navy.

It was said at Newbern, though without authority, that the Twelfth New-York Volunteers had lost sixty-five men, dead, wounded and missing in the skirmish.

The rebels are constantly sending small columns down to Newbern, probably with a view of preventing the reinforcement of the invested garrison. The Union officers, however, place no importance on these demonstrations.

The steam gunboat Hunchback, (formerly a Staten Island ferry-boat,) carrying a 100-pound Parrot gun, and three other gunboats, were about getting ready to force a passage of the Pamlico, but there was some doubts as to their success, they being wooden vessels.

An attempt had been made to shell out the rebels, but up to Friday, the day before the Terry sailed, without success. The firing began on Wednesday night, and continued at intervals until Friday night, when it ceased.

Gen. FOSTER'S means of defence are deemed ample. He occupies the fort at Little Washington, besides entrenchments at that place, and has provisions and ammunition sufficient for his use until the rebel batteries are passed, or reinforcements arrive from Suffolk. A large reinforcement is already in transports below the batteries, awaiting the arrival of some force that shall be competent to take them to their destination.

The town of Newbern is well protected by Forts Anderson, Totten and Spinola, the former on the Neuse, and the latter on the south side of the Trent Rivers. The latter is garrisoned by the One Hundred and Sixty-eighth Pennsylvania Volunteers (drafted men.)

THE INTENTION OF THE REBELS.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, April 8.

An officer who arrived here to-day from the North Carolina coast, says it was believed among our forces—the information coming from what was believed a reliable source—that Gen. LONGSTREET made application to JEFFERSON DAVIS for 50,000 troops for the purpose of clearing Albemarle Sound, and he was informed that he could have 30,000 from the Army of the Rappahannock, but must obtain the balance from Gov. VANCE, of North Carolina. It is further reported that one of the HILLS is in command.

When this information, several days ago, reached Fort Monroe, assistance was sent from that point.

NEWS FROM FORTRESS MONROE.

The Expedition Sent Out from Yorktown—The Rebel Capital to be Removed to Chattanooga.

FORTRESS MONROE, Tuesday, April 7.

The steamer America, from California, left here last night for New-York with some hundred passengers. She encountered a heavy gale off Hatteras, and put in for coal.

The flag of truce boat Columbia, left to-day for City Point with 865 rebel prisoners for exchange.

The steamboat Sylvan Shore, sailed this morning for Washington, loaded with contrabands.

An expedition was sent out from Yorktown this morning. We will have particulars to-morrow, probably.

The telegraph cable between here and Cherrystone was interrupted by the storm last Saturday. It will be repaired as soon as the weather permits.

The bark Edisto goes to sea this afternoon.

Gen. KEYES visited Suffolk yesterday and was heartily received by Gov. PECK.

A rebel cavalryman, who deserted from the rebel army on the Blackwater and came into Norfolk yesterday, says the Confederates are making arrangements to remove their Capital from Richmond to Chattanooga, and that the scarcity of provisions and forage is the principal cause.

THE WAR IN MISSOURI.

Pursuit of the Guerrillas who Destroyed the Sam Gaty—Official Report from Major Ranson.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, April 8.

The following has been received at the headquarters of the army here:

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 7, 1863.

Major-Gen. H. W. Halleck, General-in-Chief, Washington:

Gen. BLUNT telegraphs from Leavenworth as follows:

Major RANSON, of the Sixth Kansas, informs me that he has destroyed HICKS' band of guerrillas in Jackson County, Mo., killing seventeen and hanging two engaged in the robbery of the Sam Gaty. He also recovered some of the contrabands, and captured 21 of the bushwhacker's horses and seven guerrilla camps, with all their equipage, ammunition, etc.

S. R. CURTIS, Major-Gen. Commanding.

The Brig Deacon, &c.

BOSTON, Wednesday, April 8.

The steam-tug Walpole, from Provincetown for Boston, with the dismasted brig Deacon in tow, was abandoned in a sinking condition off Minot's Ledge last night. The crew were saved. Nothing has been heard from the brig.

Four Iron-Clads in the North Edisto.

THE ATTACK EXPECTED AT ONCE.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, April 8.

Private letters just received from officers attached to the Charleston expedition, written on the eve of the departure of the fleet, to attack the city, express themselves confident of success, and they say such is the general feeling among both officers and men.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday—P. M.

Up to this hour the Government has not received any information regarding events at Charleston.

ADVICES RECEIVED IN PHILADELPHIA

PHILADELPHIA, Wednesday, April 8.

A private letter dated off Charleston, 1st inst., says:

"It is reported that Charleston has been evacuated by all the women and children.

Four of our iron-clads have been in Edisto River, twenty miles south of here, for a week.

Admiral DUPONT will be here to-day, when, it is said, the bombardment will come off.

It is reported that the army will remain at Port Royal until after the bombardment. I think this report probable, as the rebels have had time and opportunity to fortify the land approaches, so as to make them almost impregnable.

We have been engaged for the last two days in hanging chains to the sides of our vessels, so as to protect their machinery."

FROM FORTRESS MONROE.

The steamer S. R. Spaulding arrived here last evening from Hilton Head, and reports that our fleet had all left for Charleston when she left.

ADVICES RECEIVED IN NEW-YORK.

Mr. WHITNEY, the builder of the iron-clad Keokuk, and one of the engineers of that vessel, have returned. They report the fleet under fighting orders. The flag of the Commander-in-Chief, during the expected battle, was to be transferred from the wooden steam-frigate Wabash to the iron-clad frigate New Ironsides. Capt. WORDEN, of the Montauk, and Capt. RODGERS, of the Weehawken, were to have the post of honor in the attack.

A REBEL ACCOUNT OF THE DEFENCES.

From the Richmond Inquirer.

Charleston is situated on a low, level point of land, at the junction of Cooper and Ashley Rivers. No portion of the city is more than twenty feet above the tide, so that upon approaching it from the harbor its buildings and the beautiful spires of its churches seem to rise directly from the water. The Cooper River joins the Ashley at a right angle from the North, and the continuation of the latter river, running nearly due east, forms the lower harbor and bay of Charleston, which widens gradually from 2 to 5 miles to its mouth, distant about 10 miles from the city. On the opposite side of the Cooper River, where it debouches into the harbor, a short mile from the City, is Castle Pinkney, a small work, but mounting some heavy guns. Nearly opposite, on the southern side of the harbor, on James' Island, about two miles distant, is Fort Johnson. About four miles from the city, midway between Sullivan's and James' Islands, is Fort Sumter, and directly northward of it, on Sullivan's Island, at a distance of two thousand yards, is Fort Moultrie. Between these two forts is the only channel for vessels to approach the city. Fort Sumter has three tiers of guns, and under the old Government, ranked as a fortification of the second class, in the extent of the works and the strength of its armament, but it was constructed in a very superior manner, and was supposed to be invulnerable at the time to the effects of any naval ordnance then in use. Its reduction by South Carolina, in 1861, was effected by hot shot from Fort Moultrie setting fire to the wooden roofs of the capacious buildings allotted for officers' quarters, by which ANDERSON and his garrison were literally roasted out. Care has been taken, in the reconstruction of the buildings, to avoid all chance for a repetition of such a barbecue. Fort Moultrie is a work of inferior rank, but it is admirably situated for dealing offensive blows upon an approaching enemy.

The principal entrance to the harbor is through Ship Channel, the outer bar of which is distant southeast from Fort Sumter, about six miles. Shortly after crossing the bar, the enemy's vessels will come under the fire of the batteries on John's Island, near and parallel to which the channel runs in a westerly direction for two miles. It then makes an angle northward, running for more than a mile directly toward Forts Sumter and Moultrie. After passing the former, it turns to the west, and passes beneath the fortifications, directly under their guns, and then bends to to the southwest, in which direction it approaches Fort Johnson for upward of two miles, while on the right it is under the fire of Castle Pinckney. It is not until the enemy silences or passes all these works, and others which will announce themselves at the proper time, that he will be able to occupy Cooper and Ashley Rivers, and place Charleston at the mercy of the shot and shell of his iron-clads.

Whatever uncertainty prevails as to the ability of fortifications to resist the impetus of the formidable projectiles hurled by the Federal gunboats, there can be no doubt that the invulnerability of the turreted monsters will be tested on this occasion by a severer ordeal than any to which they have been heretofore subjected, and Admiral DUPONT will find a different entertainment in running the gauntlet of Forts Sumter and Moultrie, and Johnson and Pinckney, from that furnished by the miserable abortion, misnamed batteries of Port Royal, so pregnant of disgrace and disaster to South Carolina.

THE LATEST REBEL REPORTS.

The Monitors and Iron-Clads Announced off Charleston.

The Storm About to Burst upon the Devoted City.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, Wednesday, April 8.

The Richmond Sentinel, of the 7th, has the following significant paragraphs:

"On yesterday morning, eight Monitors and iron-clads were off the bar at Charleston. The brief but significant telegram, which was received early in the day, and published elsewhere, tells of the long-expected collision, which has probably come off ere this.

The storm, so long prepared for Charleston, has burst at last. We shall publish the results as we learn them. We await the issue with buoyant hope, but not without the solicitude due to the important struggle. May Heaven shield Charleston from all the rage of her enemies and ours!"

FROM CHARLESTON.

CHARLESTON, Sunday, April 5.

Important movements are taking place here, but for military reasons no particulars can yet be telegraphed.

IMPORTANT FROM HAVANA.

Capture of a Prize Steamer, the Dolphin, by the Wachusett—Reported Firing by American Vessels of War, at the French Mail Steamer Floride—The Alabama Reported in Cuban Waters.

From Our Own Correspondent.

HAVANA, Saturday, April 4, 1863.

On the 2d inst. there entered our harbor, in eight days from St. Thomas, the prize steamer Dolphin, captured on the 25th ult., opposite Porto Rico, by the United States steamer Wachusett, in command of an officer, and with a crew of 21 seamen, for the purpose of coaling. The Dolphin sailed from St. Thomas on the 24th, and was captured as mentioned above, on the following day, opposite Porto Rico. She left on the same day for Key West.

"The American war steamers Rhode Island and Santiago de Cuba, which left this harbor on Sunday, entered again to-day.

It has come to our knowledge that the above ships fired three times at the French steamer Florida, which left our port on Monday, for Fort de France and St. Nazaire.

There is a report in circulation that the Alabama is in our waters."

The Diario of Santiago de Cuba, of the 29d, publishes the following:

"The Maid was met four miles from Guajaba near Nuevitas, by the American steamer Vanderbilt which fired at her with ball. This fell about sixty yards off from the stern.

At this signal the Maid hoisted her flag, and started the engine; but the Vanderbilt fired another ball for her to stop; and on this occasion, the ball passed whistling through the larboard side, and fell a dozen yards off from the vessel. The Maid having stopped, she was boarded by a boat commanded by an officer, who examined the papers, and then withdrew. The Maid continued on her voyage, after having lost two hours."

The Maid is one of our Spanish passenger steamers running between Havana and St. Thomas, and touching at various places along the Island of Cuba, in her journey outward and homeward. Admiral WILKES, it is said, was not on board, but is staying here in Havana.

The Confederate steamer Julia, laden with cotton, arrived at Matanzas on the 1st inst., in a damaged condition, having lost her mainmast. She left Mobile on the 23d ult.

According to the News, the English Consul at Mobile has been relieved of his office, on account of his sympathy for the South.

Another steamer, (English,) called the Ruby, which had also run the blockade, arrived at Matanzas on the 1st.

The Nassau paper, the Guardian, of the 25th ult., received here, mentions the arrival at that port of the steamers Ruby and Flora, from Charleston, with cargoes of cotton. The Flora was closely pursued by the blockade vessels as far as under the batteries of Fort Moultrie, and although thirty shells and balls were fired at her, none of them touched her. The Flora has two screws.

There had also arrived, at Nassau, the steamers Gertrude and Charleston, from the above-named Southern ports, several sailing vessels from different places in South Carolina and North Carolina, and the steamer Pet, of Liverpool, with an assorted cargo.

It appears that we are about to lose our patriotic consul, Capt. SHUFELDT. He leaves, it is said, very shortly, having received an appointment in the United States Navy.

Arrived, March 28, rebel schooner Alabama, (74 tons,) Mobile, five days, cotton. April 1, rebel schooner Virginia, (40 tons,) St. Marks, three days, cotton; rebel schooner Three Brothers, (40 tons,) Crystal River, three days, cotton; rebel schooner Clarita, (53 tons,) three days from St. Marks, cotton; rebel schooner Anna Maria, (15 tons,) eleven days from Aullot River, cotton. April 2, rebel sloop Laura Dudley, (51 tons,) five days from Mobile, cotton; rebel schooner Joe Flamer, (77 tons,) four days from Mobile, cotton. LARA.

IMPORTANT FROM THE SOUTH.

The Recent Great Riot in Richmond.

MISCELLANEOUS INTELLIGENCE.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, Wednesday, April 8.

Richmond papers of the 7th are received. The burden of the sentiment expressed is in exhortation to the people of the South to raise articles for food instead of cotton.

The Sentinel editorially refers in ambiguous terms to a riot which took place in Richmond last Thursday, of such magnitude as to cause the affair to be suppressed from publication. From the article it appears that the city was for awhile at the control of a lawless mob of men and women for the ostensible purpose to save themselves from starvation by breaking open stores, bakeries, &c. The movement was headed by a female, who, the Sentinel says, was above want, and the whole affair was simply to rob and plunder, under the excuse of a scarcity of food. The millinery, dry goods and fancy stores suffered as much as those containing the necessaries of life. The movement proved to have eventuated from high prices generally.

The Sentinel, in speaking of this riot, alludes to the fact that all the papers had, after consultation, concluded at the time not to mention the matter.

The Mobile Register, of the 29th, records the fact that a body of Union troops penetrated Ponchatoula, and dispersed a body of rebels there.

The Banks of Savannah have joined in a loan, without interest, to relieve the sufferings of the poor of that city.

In the Examiner of the 7th, is a leader setting forth the obstacles in the way of opening a route inland to the Yazoo above Haines' Bluff.

Before the adjournment of the Virginia Legislature, a resolution was passed appealing to every farmer to raise provisions beyond the usual amount, and enjoining frugality in food.

The Legislature of Texas has passed a bill assuming its proportion of the Confederate indebtedness. They intend passing a bill to repeal the Stay law of the State.

The papers contain the following telegrams:

CHATTANOOGA, Saturday, April 4.

There is nothing additional from the front this evening. Skirmishes with the enemy's pickets are of daily occurrence, but a general engagement is not considered immediate.

JACKSON, Saturday, April 4.

Reports from Port Royal, state that BANKS has fallen back. One division of his army is at Baton Rouge, and the rest down the river.

SENATOBIA, Saturday, April 4.

RICHARDSON'S guerrillas fought a regiment of the enemy at Somerville, killing and wounding eighty. It is stated that 5,000 troops recently left Memphis ostensibly for Vicksburgh, but after night went North.

VICKSBURGH, Saturday, April 4.

Everything is quiet to-night. But few boats are in sight. There is nothing new from Yazoo. A flag of truce was sent down yesterday by the enemy. The object was not made public.

IMPORTANT FROM NEW-ORLEANS.

Arrival of the Eastern Queen and the Columbia.

An Artillery and Gunboat Fight in Lower Louisiana.

Capture of the Gunboat Diana by the Rebels.

The Operations up the West Bank of the Mississippi.

The Expedition Across Lake Pontchartrain Successful.

A RAID OF TEXAS REBELS INTO MEXICO.

Immense Contraband Trade Across the Rio Grande.

The steamer Eastern Queen arrived at this port yesterday, from New-Orleans on the 29th ult., and the steamer Columbia arrived last evening, with advices to the 1st inst. The intelligence by these arrivals is of considerable importance.

The gunboat Diana had been captured in a fight with the rebels at Pattersonville.

Gen. DUDLEY'S brigade had made an expedition to a point on the west side of the Mississippi, half-way between Port Hudson and Point Coupée, burned the rebel steamer Hope, with 600 barrels of molasses; and at Hermitage Landing destroyed 1,600 barrels of molasses, the rebel machine shop and a granary containing 15,000 bushels of corn, beside several buildings, including the Post-office.

Our expedition to Ponchatoula and Pass Manchoc has been completely successful. The troops consisted of the Sixth Michigan and a battalion of the One Hundred and Sixty-fifth New-York, with two pieces of artillery, manned by men from the Seventh Connecticut. The gunboat Barataria and yacht Corypheus accompanied them. Ponchatoula was occupied after some skirmishing with rebel cavalry, 300 strong, and the railroad bridge, two miles beyond, destroyed, after all the rebels had been driven from it by a detachment of the Sixth Michigan. The bridge was 500 feet long. A large amount of flour, tobacco and stores fell into our hands.

Our forces occupy Ponchatoula, Springfield and Pass Manchoc, and the rebel cavalry are said to be so hedged in that their escape is difficult. Three cotton-laden schooners were captured near Ponchatoula.

A scouting party of thirteen rebels had been captured near Baton Rouge.

Collector BULLITT had suspended all transportation permits above New-Orleans, unless military necessity otherwise orders. This has been deemed necessary to prevent attempted frauds.

Texas advices, through rebel sources, say that MAGRUDER has issued an order granting permission to transport cotton to the Mexican frontier. He says it is impossible to sustain the army without purchasing with cotton supplies from foreign countries.

OUR NEW-ORLEANS CORRESPONDENCE.

The Rebel Prisoners at the Custom-House—Attentions of the Secesh Women—The Proposed Union League—Spring Weather—The Provisional Court, &c.

DEPARTMENT OF THE GULF, NEW-ORLEANS, Sunday, March 29, 1863.

Yesterday I had occasion to visit Capt. ANDREWS, Provost-Sheriff, who has charge of the rebel prisoners confined in the Custom-house. At the moment, Capt. YOUNGBLOOD and his associates of the rebel Signal Corps, were out of the lock-up and in Capt. ANDREWS' office. The room was crowded with women and young girls, who were vieing with each other in paying attention to these captured rebels. The whole affair resembled an extemporized levée held in honor of heroes just returned from some victorious campaign. The secesh officers and privates seemed very much at home, and the ladies seemed very much at their ease—all parties seemed mutually agreeable to each other. I noticed one lady attended by a negro man, carrying a large basket, which, from all appearances, contained some very rich delicacies—young ladies also contributed the little nicknacks, and there was much whispering—evident confidential inquiries after parties now flourishing in the Confederate lines. While looking upon this festive scene, my mind naturally reverted to the times when the Federal prisoners under Confederate rule were confined in the parish prison. No one was allowed to visit them except by stealth. They were hooted at and jeered by the mob, and one of the most respectable papers in the city very coolly suggested that they be taken out and hung. There may be a great deal of sense in permitting these extraordinary privileges to Confederate prisoners; but I do not see where the advantages to the Union cause begin. One thing is certain, with rare exceptions, the women of New-Orleans, whose husbands and brothers "skedaddled" on the appearance of the Federal fleet, have slept more safely under the folds of the Star-spangled Banner and under the protection of Yankee soldiery, and with their natural protectors away, than they ever did before in their eventful history; and yet they do not seem to possess that womanly quality of a ready willingness to acknowledge the hand that protects them, but seem to use their liberty, their privileges and their beauty merely to make themselves offensive to the Federal officers and soldiers, against whom, after nearly a year's occupation of the city, they have yet to bring the first suspicion of a charge of a willingness to insult them even with a rude remark.

A Union League is about to be formed in this city which will include among its members many of our leading citizens. Gen. BANKS has given the parties interested permission to select any of the club rooms for the purpose of holding meetings. In this connection, I will remark that the 25th of April, the anniversary of the arrival of the National fleet, will be celebrated by a magnificent ball. The preparations promise already a most brilliant affair.

Just at this time the Spring weather is telling upon the tropical plants that have of late years become common in this city. A number of banana trees meet my eye daily, and I can almost literally see them grow. At all events, the advance of each day is perfectly perceptible. The leaf of the banana is some five or six feet long, and at least fifteen inches wide. One day I noticed a long, slender green stalk of some feet in length, that had pushed itself out of the enormous vegetable trunk. As the sun and air toyed with this new life, the broad part of one side of the leaf gradually unrolled itself from the stem—this accomplished, the other side of the leaf also unrolled, and the whole form was complete. Nothing could be more simple or more truly beautiful. Last Summer, at DAN HICKOX'S, a "century plant," or cactus, after a repose of over thirty years, suddenly opened the long, lance-like leaves of its central growth, and then shot up in one night a shaft of green but tough vegetation of at least fifteen inches. For several days this shaft grew a foot in every twenty-four hours; it then grew six inches in that length of time, until it reached the height of thirty feet. Now commenced the blowing process, and a hundred persons who had anxiously watched this wonderful phenomenon, and were waiting impatiently for the dénouement, were doomed to be disappointed, for a sudden storm rose and prostrated all this magnificent beauty to the earth. Within a few days two more of these wonderful plants have commenced the preliminaries of giving birth to flowers; and that no accident shall again occur, the shafts as they rise in the air are carefully protected by supports. One of these plants in a favorable location in New-York would realize to its fortunate owner a fortune by its exhibition.

J. W. ASHMEAD, Esq., of your City, has been here for some time past, attending, before the United States Provisional Court, to GEORGE LAW'S interests connected with the celebrated Grapeshot case. I believe the conclusion come to was, that the jurisdiction of the Court was not clear; meantime, the money in dispute is deposited in Washington, which is a great comfort to loyal claimants. Mr. ASHMEAD has received much attention from the members of the Bar and other distinguished citizens. Our new Collector, CUTHBERT BULLITT Esq., is distinguishing himself for the intelligent and patriotic zeal he displays in the administration of his important office, and I everywhere hear him spoken of with praise. Perfectly familiar with the commercial wants and necessities of the community, and personally acquainted with every leading citizen, he possesses of course the ability to do everything possible to facilitate the wishes of loyal people, and to check the action of those who, regardless of anything but selfish gain, would embarrass the Government. The permission to send small quantities of supplies into the country for family use, has been taken advantage of by heartless speculators, and Mr. BULLITT deals with the question with most commendable promptness. He forbids, for the present, any more shipments, unless ordered as a military necessity. The steamer which conveys this letter to New-York takes out, among other passengers, Col. SAMUEL B. HOLABIRD, Chief Quartermaster of this Department. The Colonel is unquestionably one of the most energetic and practically useful men on Gen. BANKS' staff, and as such he deserves the highest possible consideration from the Government at Washington.

Yesterday we had revived the novelty of an openly avowed secesh lady in the streets. Miss ——, defying the celebrated order "No. 28," made her appearance on the pavement with a handkerchief round her neck, on the corner of which was conspicuously wrought, in colors, a rebel flag. I do not think that any particular notice would have been taken of it if the fair owner had not flouted said disgusting symbol in the face of a naval officer, who very properly escorted the lady before Gen. BOWEN. While the examination of the case was going on, the young lady in her vexation and indignation, absolutely tore the material of the symbolized flag out of the handkerchief with her teeth, and ate it up, so she literally put the blessed "Stars and Bars" very near her heart. The handkerchief was confiscated and the young lady was ordered to report once a day, for one month, to Capt. KILBORN, Deputy Provost-Marshal; since which time, I have no doubt, the Captain has had several applications for positions of head Clerks.

The Tisdale case is, up to this time, undecided. The merits of it are in a nutshell: A registered enemy gave a secesh fair, at which all that could be done by naturally cultivated people was done to insult the Federal authorities. Some young men, still enthusiastic, and free from the demoralizing effects of rebel rule, who bought tickets and visited the fair, reported the facts to the proper authorities. A fair trial was had, and the defendant found, much to his astonishment, that he was convicted of a serious crime. The Provost-Judge opened the case, and hence the excitement. The case should have been disposed of in ten minutes, and the guilty party should have been severely punished. HOPEFUL.

A FIGHT IN LOWER LOUISIANA.

Correspondence of the New-Orleans Era.

BRASHEAR CITY, Monday, March 30, 1863.

Last Saturday morning, while sitting at a table in the cabin of the gunboat Diana, writing out my notes to send by the morning train, the engine whistle sounded. Gathering up my papers, I asked Capt. PETERSON, who stood beside me, if he was going to make a trip that day? He replied he was only going to ship some coal, and not do picket duty as usual, and that he would be quiet for two or three days at least.

It appears that Capt. PETERSON received orders on Saturday morning to take on board two companies of infantry and make a reconnoissance to find whether the enemy had received reinforcements of infantry. He was to go no further than a point where a bayou from Grand Lake unites with the Atchafalaya, west of Pattersonville.

But he was not contented with simply fulfilling the letter of his commands; and hence, with a zeal which unfortunately proved fatal to him, he determined to carry his observations into the very midst of the enemy's stronghold.

Proceeding cautiously along the bayou until within half a mile of Pattersonville, on the upper side, four of the rebel cavalry suddenly came within range, and galloped along the levee road. A shell was fired at them from the Diana without effect. They continued retreating until they reached the main body of cavalry, consisting of several companies, which had remained concealed by a sugar house.

Upon discovering this force, instantly every gun of the Diana was brought to bear upon the enemy, shot and shell being poured into their ranks with perceptible effect. Several companies of rebel infantry now joined the cavalry, and they formed in line of battle, and kept up a sharp firing upon our men.

While all attention from the gunboat was directed to this force of infantry and cavalry, a battery of four brass field-pieces was suddenly hurried into a neighboring cornfield, at no greater distance than twenty yards from the boat, whence a most active cannonading was at once commenced.

It was at this moment that Capt. PETERSON, while standing on the deck on the starboard side of the pilot-house, giving orders to his men, received a ball in his breast, which prostrated him to the deck. His only words were, "I am a dead man." He never spoke again. Hardly had Capt. PETERSON fallen, when a ball struck Master's Mate Mr. DOLLIVER, who was standing at his post working one of the Dahlgren cannon. He was killed almost instantly.

By this time it became evident that the object of the enemy was to pick off our men from the large guns. Mr. MUNROE having charge of the Parrott gun in the bow had been killed, and a perfect hail-storm of bullets was showered upon those who were stationed forward.

Accordingly these pieces were abandoned, and from that time all firing ceased on board the Diana. The men could only lie flat on the decks and receive the shots of the enemy, whose firing completely riddled the upper works of the boat. The wooden bulwarks were knocked to splinters, which flew in every direction, proving more destructive than the balls of the enemy.

The third shot fired by the rebels cut the tiller ropes of the Diana, and left her helpless in the current. This damage was not repaired for some time, the boat meanwhile floating down, stern foremost, toward the enemy, who, from the short distance of sixty feet, raked her with round shot from stem to stern. All the deck officers in command were either killed or wounded. The boiler deck was torn in pieces by the shot, shell and grape poured into it by the enemy. When the boat changed position, the enemy's cannon were moved so that they might be worked with the greatest effect.

Mr. HALL, officer of the deck, was shot in the fore head and went below, saying to the men: "Boys, fight it out till the last."

All the ship's officers armed themselves with muskets during the action, and used them constantly.

LIST OF CASUALTIES.

The casualties on our side were very small for the danger to which the men were exposed.

There was on board Capt. JEWETT'S company, of

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

We are still without news from Charleston. Up to yesterday afternoon the Government had received no definite intelligence regarding operations there. Private letters have been received from officers attached to the naval force, dated as late as the 1st inst., which speak of the attack as to take place at once, and expressing confidence in a good result. All the women and children were said to have left the city in anticipation of the attack.

The latest rebel reports from Charleston are to the 6th inst. They announce the appearance of eight Monitors and iron-clads off the bar, and it was believed the attack was to commence immediately.

A letter dated at North Edisto, S. C., March 29, states that the iron-clads Weehawken, Nantucket, Catskill and Nahant were then at that place. The Passaic, Montauk, Patapsco and Keokuk were also expected at an early day, and from that rendezvous were to start for Charleston. Gen. STEVENSON'S brigade had also arrived at North Edisto, and landed after the Catskill and Nahant had shelled the woods. This information corresponds with that contained in the letter of our special correspondent, published a day or two ago.

We have important advices from North Carolina by the arrival at this port of the steam transport Ellen S. Terry, from Newbern on the 4th inst. On Tuesday, it will be recollected, we published a brief dispatch from Washington, announcing that intelligence was expected of a battle in North Carolina, between Gen. FOSTER and the rebel Gen. HILL. The Terry brings us a letter from one of our correspondents, which explains the meaning of this dispatch. It appears that on Monday, the 30th ult., a strong force of rebels under HILL and PETTIGREW suddenly appeared at Washington, (N. C.,)—some ten thousand on the north side of the town and seven regiments on the south side on the Pamlico River. Our pickets and skirmishmishers were driven in, but with trifling loss. As soon as the position of the enemy was ascertained, our gunboats, by a well-directed fire, left them at a respectful distance for a time. During the night the rebels intrenched themselves in position commanding the town and the river, and this cut off communications in a great measure. Dispatches were got off in a small lighter, however, and reinforcements of gunboats and troops were soon on hand. On Wednesday and Thursday firing was kept up on both sides without much effect. Gen. HILL notified the National Commander to remove the women and children, as he intended to shell the town. He does not appear to have done so, however, at last accounts. On Friday Gen. FOSTER arrived, and it was believed that he could hold the place against the rebels, even without additional reinforcements, with the aid of the gunboats whose numbers had been increased. We have very strong fortifications there, and the town is surrounded by a deep ditch and a formidable abattis.

The latest story about the rebel Capital is, that it is to be removed from Richmond to Chattanooga—the scarcity of provisions and forage in Virginia being the principal cause.

The steamers Eastern Queen and Columbia arrived at this port yesterday, from New-Orleans respectively on the 29th ult. and 1st inst., bringing news of considerable importance. We have the particulars of an unfortunate affair in Lower Louisiana, in which the gunboat Diana, becoming hemmed in by a rebel force in one of the bayous leading into Grand Lake, was captured by them, after a gallant resistance. Capt. PATTERSON, her commander, together with several of his men, were killed, and all the rest on board were taken prisoners, but subsequently paroled. Gen. DUDLEY'S expedition up the west bank of the Mississippi was not without good results. He burnt a rebel steamer, and destroyed considerable other rebel property. The expedition across Lake Pontchartrain, spoken of by our correspondent recently, was completely successful. The rebels were driven out, and our forces occupied Ponchatoula, Springfield and Pass Manchac. Advices from Texas by the Columbia, are important. The Texan rebels had invaded Mexico, and committed numerous outrages. The Mexican authorities had demanded reparation. An immense contraband trade is carried on across the Rio Grande. A train of six hundred carts, loaded with cotton, is spoken of as being on its way to Brownsville. Some eighty vessels are said to be at the mouth of the Rio Grande.

By the steamer Columbia we receive our Havana correspondence to the 4th inst. The English steamer Dolphin arrived there on the 2d, in charge of a national prize-crew, she having been captured on the 25th off Porto Rico (she left St. Thomas on the 24th) by the Wachusett. She was in distress, having sprung a leak and being out of coal. Every facility was offered her, and she sailed the same afternoon for Key West. This is the steamer that was leaving Liverpool as the George Griswold was arriving. It was reported by the Diario of Santiago de Cuba that the gunboats Rhode Island and Santiago de Cuba had fired three shots at the French steamer Floride, a West India packet. The Alabama was believed to be again in Cuban waters.

THE STATE LEGISLATURE.

In the Senate, yesterday, among the bills reported favorably was one fixing the salary of the New-York Supervisors. The Brooklyn Public Market bill was reported adversely, and the report was agreed to. Majority and minority reports from the Special Committee on the Broadway Railroad bill, relative to the business, residences, etc., of the contractors named in the bill, were made, but their consideration was cut off by the special order—the Annual Appropriation bill. Subsequently, favorable reports were made on the bills incorporating the Soldiers' Home and the Soldiers' Rest. The Broadway Railroad bill was reported complete. A motion was made to strike out the names of unknown corporators, and to insert instead the names of stage proprietors. This was lost, after a long debate. An amendment giving the franchise to the lowest bidder was also lost. The bill was finally ordered to a third reading. During the proceedings, Mr. LOW offered concurrent resolutions, which were laid over, pledging New-York to the suppression of the rebellion.

In the Assembly bills were passed to extend the Northern Railroad; to award the Bounty Tax bill; to incorporate the Mohawk Valley and Pasico Railroad Company, and to extend the Chenango Canal. A number of bills were reported favorably—among them the one to promote reënlistments, and a number for the consideration of the House. The one allowing soldiers to vote was among the latter. A concurrent resolution amending the Constitution so as to allow soldiers to vote, was introduced by Mr. DEAN and laid over.

GENERAL NEWS.

Some additional advices from Mexico reach us by way of Havana, though nothing later than we have already had. The French forces under Gen. FOREY were still, on the 7th of March, occupying the line twelve short leagues from Puebla, and seven from the outer posts. The Mexican vanguard was at Amozoo. The guerrillas were still very troublesome to the French.

A case of some interest and importance was before Justice BARBOUR, of Special Term of the Superior Court, yesterday, involving the question of the legality of the fees of "Sheriff's Auctioneers" under the present usage of the Sheriff's office, and the further question whether the "profits" of the position of Sheriff's Auctioneer are a good basis for a contract between parties.

The price of Gold was 4 ₱ cent. lower yesterday. Stocks generally dull. Money easy. The conversions of United States Currency into the New Loan of 1882 reached nearly a million and a half.

Business was generally depressed, yesterday, owing to the heavy decline in Gold, and Sterling Exchange. Breadstuffs and Provisions were much cheaper, and inactive. Hay, Sugars, and Tallow were in fair demand, but at rather easier rates. Coffee, Teas, Rice, Spices, Metals, Hops, Hides, Leather, Fish, Tobacco and Molasses were lightly dealt in. The auction sales of Dry Goods were spiritless, and lower prices prevailed. Freights were dull and heavy, with 444 vessels of all classes in port.

The Assured Strength of the Administration.

The results of the Congressional elections in Connecticut and Rhode Island settle the fact that the supporters of the Administration will have a clear working majority in the next House of Representatives. It is probable that there will be a gain of several Administration members in Maryland and Kentucky, the only two loyal States yet to choose; but even if this prove otherwise, it will not change the preponderance. It is fixed that the great war measures of the Government, so boldly conceived and elaborately matured, will be sustained and seconded by the Representatives of the people.

Herein a prime point has been gained. In fact, it puts the Administration safely round the cape, and insures it clear seas to the end. There has hardly been an Administration for the last generation, which had the hearty and effectual support of the Congress elected for the last half of its term. The Congress for the first half, of course, has almost invariably been in entire sympathy with the President, inasmuch as both it and he were borne to their places by one and the same popular movement. But a reaction has been almost sure to set in by the expiration of the first two years. A very large proportion of the host of partisans who labor at the first election, with all their might and main, in the hope of official reward, have necessarily been disappointed—for the office-seekers always outnumber the offices a hundred to one—and either exhibit cold indifference at the second election, or else gratify resentment in faction or direct opposition. The brilliant promises of reform, too, which every party seeking power is sure to hold out, have been almost as surely falsified after the power has once been gained; the people find it out by the second election, and manifest their displeasure accordingly. Then again, mere opposition is far easier than the devising and prosecuting of affirmative measures; one party deposes another chiefly through skillful and vehement faultfinding on the one hand, while it commits itself to only glittering generalities on the other; the consequence is that when, after success, the time comes for positive measures, these furnish a palpable mark, which its opponents in turn may open fire upon effectively. It is not at all surprising—considering the manifold influences operating—that the majority of the second Congress has so often been made up of elements out of accord with the existing Administration; and that the latter half of almost every Presidential term has amounted to little else than a mutually exhausting struggle between the executive and legislative branches of the Government.

The present Administration has passed this danger. Though it would be vain to say that it has in all respects completely satisfied the people, yet the elections have proved that, for all practical purposes, it still retains their confidence. Its great war measures have received the sanction of the people, and will be consistently upheld by their newly chosen representatives. The Administration, unlike so many of its predecessors, will have no need to waste its strength in extorting legislative coöperation. It can concentrate every energy upon the one sole business of subduing the rebellion. The Government will remain virtually a unit in all its branches; no clash, nor even a jar, need be apprehended in any of its movements.

But there was another peril, extraneous in its character, which was regarded with some apprehension. We refer to State interference. The opponents of the war have relied quite as much upon this for the furtherance of their ends as upon the breaking down of the Congressional support of the Administration. They have done their best to drive State Legislatures into the adoption of measures calculated to embarrass, if not positively thwart, the action of the National Government. But they have in no case succeeded. Even in the least loyal of all the Legislatures, that of New-Jersey, the obstructive measures first proposed could be got through in no practical shape, and finally had to take the shape of mere declaratory resolutions, which, disgraceful as they were in sentiment, had not the slightest practical consequence whatever. The efforts to elect State Governors, who should try to balk the National Government, was no more successful. The only two Governors whom these peace men successfully aided to their places—Gov. SEYMOUR, of New-York, and Gov. PARKER, of New-Jersey—have since shown no disposition to lift a finger toward embarrassing President LINCOLN. We have no doubt that they will effectively coöperate with him whenever and however it shall be found necessary. The would-be Governor from whom the factionists expected most, and with the best reason—he of Connecticut—the people have just decided shall remain in private life. In no quarter is there the slightest danger of State interference. The truth is that this danger never was very serious. The people have an invincible repugnance to any attempt to block the wheels of Government in that way. There may be much hard talk, but nothing harder comes of it. The thing was tried thoroughly in the last war with England, and under peculiar advantages, too; but it failed then, and it always will fail. So long as our present constitutional system remains, the Federal power must be and will be the controlling power. The people understand that to be a vital necessity, and they will always conform to it.

The Administration may be considered, therefore, as beyond the reach of any faction, whether exerted at Washington or elsewhere. If true to itself, it must remain perfectly strong and secure to the very last day of its existence. Why then need there be any further agitation of the public mind upon the war policy? What practical end can be subserved by any further wrangling or plotting in the interests of peace? The man who tries to keep up discord for the mere sake of it, or when it is certain that no practical good and nothing but practical evil can come from it, cannot be anything else than a public enemy. He should be universally recognized and treated as such. All true men, whatever may have been their former diversity of views and wishes, will now accept what has been settled by the elections, and heartily unite in upholding and stimulating the Administration in its stupendous task. It being decided by the deliberate judgment of the people that the Republic can be saved only by war, it is more than ever the duty of every man to do what he can toward aiding the Government to make that war speedily and completely effective.

The Rebels and their Allies.

The Richmond Enquirer, of the 30th ult., devotes a good deal of its attention to the then approaching Connecticut election. It noticed the "sympathizing" resolutions adopted by the Democratic Convention,—its declaration that "the lovers of the Constitution must abandon the monstrous fallacy that the Union can be restored by the armed hand alone,"—and to Mr. SEYMOUR'S opinion that "it is not by force of arms that we are to have another Union, but by force of reason;" and it comments upon these demonstrations of its Northern allies in the following edifying and complimentary style:

"Reader, excuse us. We cannot repress a natural movement of scorn in speaking of those creatures. Nay, we avow the opinion, that it is good to cherish and cultivate a little wholesome disdain, in contemplating the mean disappointment of those speculators in war, when they find they have invested in a non-paying business, and that it is "time" to wind up the bad concern. On what lofty ground—we ragged Confederates—stand now, high over the shabby turmoil of that vulgar and greedy Yankee nation, from which we severed an unnatural alliance, because we could no longer brook the contact; and whose every act and every saying since that day more and more decisively justifies us in quitting their hateful Union, wiping the dust from off our feet! It is salutary, we say, to dwell upon and insist upon the contrast. * *

We shall watch those "Confederates" (so-called) who may show any inclination to hearken unto these eloquent Democrats; who may praise their lofty patriotism, or sympathize in their noble struggle for their Constitution. Such Confederates will be fit subjects—to say the least—of medical treatment as lunatics. To shave their heads and half-drown them with shower baths, might do them good; but to answer them according to their folly would only exasperate their paroxysm. If there be few such Confederates or none, so much the better.

If there were once peace indeed, it would then be better not to insist too urgently on the ineffaceable differences which make us now and hereafter two distinct races of men; we should then strive to look upon Yankees only with a tranquil dislike, as the most foreign of all foreigners; most disagreeable of all bores. But while they are our mortal enemies, it is salutary to bring out and develop the points of antagonism, and so make sure that in peace or in war, we shall indeed be aliens for all time; for our ways are not their ways, their people are not our people, neither is their God our God."

We commend these sentiments to the crushed Copperheads of Connecticut. We advise Mr. SEYMOUR and those who with him have been zealously laboring to "end the war," to take them into serious consideration. They may possibly find in them something like consolation for the defeat they have just sustained. These declarations will indicate the spirit and temper of the men whose cause they have been trying to aid. They may serve to show them the utter futility of the schemes they have cherished for restoring the Union, and to prove to their satisfaction that even if they had carried the election and had endeavored to make peace with the rebels on the platform they had laid down, they would have received at their hands only kicks and insults for their pains.

The simple fact is, the rebels—those in authority we mean—don't want peace except with disunion. They will fight to the last extremity rather than come back; and until they are thoroughly and hopelessly defeated, this will continue to be their paramount and controlling determination. It is utter folly to talk of making terms with them,—to dream of compromises by which the Union can be restored. So long as they are able to fight they will resist and repudiate all such propositions, no matter from what quarter they may come, and every attempt of Northern Democrats to plead their cause, or do anything toward ending the war in the hope of bringing about a peaceful adjustment of pending differences, will only expose them to fresh contempt and to just such insults as those embodied in the above extracts from the Richmond Enquirer.

We beg these gentlemen to understand, what every day's developments prove more and more conclusively, that our only hope of peace and a restoration of the Union lies in quelling the rebellion by force of arms. No other resort has the slightest chance of success. The rebel leaders who now control public sentiment at the South, and who will continue to do so so long as they have the power of the rebel armies at their back, scout every suggestion of compromise, and repudiate utterly every thought of peace which involves their return to the Union. Those armies must be destroyed and those leaders dethroned before we have the remotest chance of peace. When that has been done we can talk of terms. Until then all such talk is worse than folly.

STATE RIGHTS AND THE NATIONAL CONSTITUTION.—Our Legislature is discussing the question whether this State shall aid the General Government in carrying out the financial policy which it has adopted, or whether it shall do all in its power to thwart it. A bill is pending in the Senate consenting to the establishment, within this State, of the banks authorized by the recent act of Congress. The precise issue thus raised is stated by "Sentinel," the Albany correspondent of the World, to be simply this—"Shall the law of the United States take precedence of the Constitution of the State of New-York?" We are a little surprised that so old and experienced a political writer should have dreamed for a moment that there could be any doubt on this point, or any occasion to discuss it. The sixth article of the Constitution of the United States declares, in very explicit terms, that "this Constitution, and the laws of the United States made in pursuance thereof, shall be the supreme law of the land, and the Judges in every State shall be bound thereby, anything in the Constitution or laws of any State to the contrary notwithstanding." Even assuming then, that this law of the United States is contrary to the Constitution of the States, which we do not for a moment concede, it is the "supreme law of the land" notwithstanding, provided only it be in conformity with the Constitution of the United State; and upon that point no question has yet been raised. Our Legislature, we take it for granted, will not be embarrassed in regard to its duty by any such cavils as those referred to. New-York is devoted, in all her affections and all her interests, by all her memories and all her hopes, to the preservation of the Union, and she will sustain the National Government in all its efforts to accomplish that result.

THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY AND THE WAR.—The World reads FERNANDO WOOD and his Copperhead clique out of the Democratic party. It charges that ambitious political chieftain with attempting to make a platform to suit himself, without any regard to the principles, the sentiments or the welfare of the party at large. "What is more unwise," asks the World, "than to ask the Democratic party to step off its own platform upon a plank one end of which is under water in Connecticut to-day?" This is a pertinent question; but which "end" is it that went under in Connecticut? It seemed to us just before the election that the World stood on that plank pretty squarely. If it managed to get off before the polls were closed, it displayed a remarkable degree of political agility. Its rebukes of FERNANDO, at all events, are edifying, not only as eminently just in themselves, but as indicating a wholesome appreciation of the lessons taught by the recent elections in the New-England States. The Democrats are slowly, but surely, learning that any party which resists the prosecution of the war against the rebellion, is simply digging its own grave. They won't object to FERNANDO'S doing it—but they have evidently no intention to make their own bed there with him.

A HANDSOME GIFT.—Hon. EZRA CORNELL, President of the State Educational Society, and member of the State Assembly from Tompkins County, has presented the town of Ithaca with $50,000, for the erection of a building and the establishment of a Public Library. He intends to devote the coming Summer to the execution of this munificent and public spirited donation, and will not be able, therefore, to accept the State appointment as Commissioner to the Agricultural Fair at Hamburg. This splendid gift is a noble and characteristic illustration of the intelligent and well-directed liberality which distinguishes Mr. CORNELL'S public and private career.

Amusements.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—The second performance of "Ione," last evening, attracted a magnificent audience, and elicited an amount of approbation that justifies the use of the word furore. After the second act, the artists were called out twice; after the third act, they were called out twice again, and Mr. MARETZEK being demanded, had also to make his appearance. The opera, in fact, is a tremendous success, and deservedly so, for it is one of the best that the modern muse of Italy has given to the stage. The performance last evening was excellent in all respects.

We are sorry to announce that Mr. MARETZEK'S season will come to an end on Saturday of next week. Private affairs connected with the recent decease of Mad. MAZZORI'S husband, render it absolutely necessary for the lady to repair at once to Belgium. "Ione" will be played on Friday for the last time. To-night (Thursday) Mr. ANSCHUTZ'S celebrated German Opera Company will appear here for the first time. BEETHOVEN'S "Fidelio" will be played, with largely increased orchestra and chorus.

LAURA KEENE'S THEATRE.—An Irish drama called "Bantry Bay, or Ireland in 1798," was produced here on Monday last with success, and repeated last evening. It is on the fruitful subject of the Irish rebellion, and the proscriptions that followed it. The main incidents, in an another shape, have already been used on the stage; but Miss KEENE'S drama possesses the merit of being brief, and having a laughter-provoking part for Mr. BLAKE. The situations arrive quickly, and are generally good; indeed, the work is one that ought to tempt the public taste, being amply sufficient to afford a good evening's entertainment to those who are fond of fearful dangers and hair-breadth escapes. It is excellently acted by the members of the company; the part of the heroine, Nellie O'Donohue, being sustained by Miss ROSE EYTINGE—a lady who is a recent and valuable addition to Miss KEENE'S forces. To a presence that leaves nothing to be desired, Miss EYTINGE combines a modesty of action and discretion of speech that are as rare as they are charming. The part does not admit of any display of serious dramatic ability, but the delicate and more difficult phases of sisterly devotion were rendered with a naturalness and native grace that could hardly have been better. The drama will be repeated to-night.

IRVING HALL.—Mr. GOTTSCHALK will give his second grand concert here this evening, assisted by admirable vocal and instrumental talent.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

Good Condition of the Government Finances.

APPOINTMENTS IN THE ENGINEER CORPS.

An Important Order Relating to Consolidation of Regiments.

OUR SPECIAL WASHINGTON DISPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, April 8.

THE GOVERNMENT FINANCES.

The total sales made by JAY COOKE & Co., of the five-twenty bonds, amount to $20,700,000. Thus far in the month of April they foot up $6,500,000. The sales have been exceedingly restricted by the want of printed bonds. The Treasury Department has provided for an adequate supply, and sales will undoubtedly go up to $2,000,000 a day. The receipts from this popular loan, and those from Internal Revenue and the Land-Office, will be so ample for the wants of the Government that there is no probability that the Secretary of the Treasury will resort to any other source of supply.

THE STATE LEGISLATURES.

Measures are being concerted in some of the loyal States to secure Legislative Representations, particularly in the lower branch, of the ablest and most distinguished citizens. The Government, and friends of the Government, feel that there never was in the history of the country an occasion requiring such wise statesmanship and law-making as will the Winter which will succeed or precede the close of the war, and the reorganization of the Union. Pennsylvania will lead in this work.

THE PROSECUTION OF THE WAR.

The Government has to-day received proofs that the public feeling in all the Northern and Western States is in favor of vigorous measures in the prosecution of the war, and that little, if any, opposition will be made to the enforcement of the Conscription law.

THE ENGINEER CORPS.

The following are officers of the corps of Engineers appointed under the act of March 3, 1863:

Chief Engineer, with the rank of Brigadier-General—Joseph G. Totten.

To rank as Colonels, and in the following order—Stephen H. Low, Sylvanus Thayer, Rowe E. De Russy, Hartman Bache.

Rank as Lieutenant-Colonels.—James D. Graham, Richard Delafield, Henry Brewerton, Thomas J. Cram, Alexander J. Bowman, John G. Barnard, Geo. W. Cullum, Henry W. Benham, Andrew A. Humphreys, John N. Macomb.

As Majors.—Daniel P. Woodbury, James H. Simpson, Lorenzo Sitgreaves, Israel C. Woodruff, Zealous B. Tower, Horatio G. Wright, John Newton, George Thorn, Aniel W. Whipple, George G. Meade, John D. Kurtz, Barton S. Alexander, James W. Abert, William F. Raynolds, William F. Smith, Edward B. Hunt, Charles S. Stewart, Charles E. Blunt, John G. Foster, James C. Duane.

Rank as Captains—Robert S. Williamson, Quincy A. Gillmore, Frederick E. Prince, James St. C. Morton, Thos. L. Casey, James B. McPherson, Nathaniel Michela, John G. Parker, Gouverneur K. Warren, George H. Wendell, Henry L. Abbott, Charles N. Turnbull, William P. Craighill, Cyrus B. Comstock, Junius B. Wheeler, Godfrey Weitzel, David C. Houston, Miles D. McAlister, George H. Elliott, John C. Palfrey, Henry M. Robert, Haldeman S. Putnam, William C. Paine, William E. Merrill, Chauncy R. Ruse, Walter McFarland, John A. Tardy, Jr., Chas. E. Cross, Nicholas Bowen.

Rank as First Lieutenant—Orlando M. Poe, James H. Wilson, Orville E. Babcock, John M. Wilson, Franklin Harwood, John W. Barlow, Peter C. Haines, Patrick H. O'Rourke, Francis V. Farquhar, Arthur H. Dutton, Raneid S. MacKenzie, George L. Gillespie, George Burroughs, Charles R. Suter, Jared M. Smith, Samuel A. Mansfield, Henry C. Wharton.

The following assignment of Engineers is made to the battalion of Sappers, Miners and Pontooners:

Major JAMES C. DUANE to command battalion; Capt. N. Michler, First Lieut. Mackenzie, Company A; Capt. Charles E. Cross, First Lieut. Harwood, Company B; Capt. Chauncey B. Ruse, First Lieut. Barlow, Company C; Capt. C. N. Turnbull, First Lieut. Gellespie, Company D; Capt. Thomas L. Casey, Co. E, late Company A, Topographical Engineers.

Companies A, B, C and D will remain with the Army of the Potomac, and the officers assigned to this battalion, not now with that army, will report for duty to Major-Gen. HOOKER, as soon as their present commanding officers can dispense with their service. Capt. CASEY will continue at Portland, Me., and in addition to his present duties, will, under direction of the Chief Engineer, recruit for the Engineer Companies in the field—after filling which to their full complement, he will organize his own company.

AN IMPORTANT ORDER.

The following order, of more interest to the army and the country than any issued from the Adjutant-General's office since the war commenced, will be published to-morrow. Its necessity and its policy cannot be questioned.

WAR DEPARTMENT, ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE, WASHINGTON, April 2, 1863.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 86.—1. Under the authority contained in sections nineteen and twenty of the act for enrolling and calling out the National forces, and for other purposes, approved March 3, 1863, it is ordered that, for each and every regiment of the volunteer army now reduced, or that may be reduced hereafter, as set forth in said sections, consolidation shall be made in accordance with the following rules:

Infantry.

1. Each regiment will be consolidated into five or a less number of companies, and the Colonel, Major and one Assistant Surgeon mustered out.

Cavalry.

2. Each regiment will be consolidated into six or a less number of companies, and the Colonel, two Majors and one Assistant Surgeon mustered out.

Artillery.

3. Each regiment will be consolidated into six or a less number of batteries, and the Colonel, two Majors and one Assistant-Surgeon mustered out.

4. The companies and batteries formed by consolidation will be of the maximum strength, and will be organized as now directed by law and regulations. The first letters of the alphabet will be used to designate the companies.

5. The Company officers, commissioned and non-commissioned, rendered supernumerary, will be mustered out of service at the date of consolidation. All other officers and non-commissioned officers will be retained.

6. The officers to be retained will be selected by the division and corps Commanders, under the instructions of the Commanding-General of the army or department, from among the most efficient officers of the respective regiments. After the consolidation, as herein directed, the reduced proportion of officers will be maintained, and no appointments to vacancies will be made except upon notification from the Adjutant-General of the army. To this end commanders of armies and departments will report weekly to the Adjutant-Generals the vacancies to be filled. The said reports will be separate for each State, and must embrace the name, rank and regiment of the party creating the vacancy, with date and cause thereof. If an order was issued in the case, its number, date and source must be given. Commissaries and Assistant Commissaries of Musters will closely observe this paragraph, and make no musters in except of the proportion herein fixed.

The following are the sections referred to, and under which the foregoing is ordered:

SEC. 19. And be it further enacted, That whenever a regiment of volunteers of the same arm from the same State is reduced to one half the maximum number prescribed by law, the President may direct the consolidation of the companies of such regiment; Provided, That no company so formed shall exceed the maximum number prescribed by law. When such consolidation is made, the regimental officers shall be reduced in proportion to the reduction in the numbers of companies.

SEC. 20. And be it further enacted, That whenever a regiment is reduced below the maximum number allowed by law, no officer shall be appointed in such regiment beyond those necessary for the command of such reduced number.

By order of the Secretary of War.

E. D. TOWNSEND, Ass't Adj't-Gen.

PASSES.

By order of Gen. HEINTZELMAN, no passes whatever will be respected to cross or recross the lines of the Department of Washington on the south side of the Potomac. Should any persons be permitted to pass the lines, they must be accompanied by a military escort.

THE RICHES OF CALIFORNIA.

Judge EDMUNDS, of the Land office, received yesterday from Los Angelos, Southern California, a number of specimens of gold-bearing quartz, copper, lead and silver ore, and specimens of different qualities of California coal. The Register of the Land office at Los Angelos, in a letter to the Commissioner, says, that inexhaustible springs of Asphaltum have recently been discovered in the Southern portion of the State, and that recent explorations show that the country bordering on Colorado River abounds in bituminous coal, immense beds of which lie near the surface of the soil. Gold, silver, copper, lead and quicksilver mines increase in richness as they are being worked, and a silver mine yielding over $1,200 worth of pure metal to the ton has recently been opened. This mine is pronounced to be the richest in the world. Crowds of miners are leaving the northern and central portions of the State and flocking to the new Eldorado.

DISMISSED.

On the recommendation of Gen. HEINTZELMAN, the following officers have been dismissed the service: Capt. F. T. HUNTOON, First Vermont cavalry, for disgraceful conduct in allowing his picket to be captured, and Lieut. E. H. HIGELY, of the same regiment, for cowardice.

The case of Lieut. JOHN P. COLE, of the One Hundred and Forty-fourth New-York, convicted by a Court-martial of Desertion, and sentenced to be shot, has been commuted to dismissal.

RECOGNIZED.

The President has recognized GEORGE PAPENDICK as Consul for the Grand Duchy of Mecklenburg-Schwerin at Boston.

GEN. HARTSUFF.

Gen. HARTSUFF has been ordered to report for duty to Gen. BURNSIDE, at Cincinnati.

REBEL PRISONERS.

About 50 rebel prisoners and 100 horses, captured recently by Gen. STAHL, near Aldie, were brought in to-night.

DISPATCHES TO THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, April 8.

THE REPORT OF THE WAR COMMITTEE.

The remaining part of the report of the Committee on the Conduct of the War has been printed, and will soon be given to the public. It is on the subject of Bull Run, Ball's Bluff, and the Western or Missouri Department. The Committee also took testimony in relation to the Hatteras Inlet, Port Royal, the Burnside and Accomac Expeditions, the capture of New-Orleans, the invasion of New-Mexico, &c.

REVENUE DECISION.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has decided that oil manufactured without distillation from parafine and benzole, will be subject to a duty of 3 per centum ad valorem. Coal illuminating oil manufactured by the distillation or redistillation of parafine, benzole or other bituminous substances, is subject to a duty of 10 cents per gallon.

HON. JOHN TUCKER'S DEFENCE.

Hon. JOHN TUCKER, the late Assistant Secretary of War, has published a pamphlet of fifty-seven pages, addressed to Secretary STANTON, replying to the charges of the Committee of the Senate on Chartering Transports for the War Department.

It is claimed to be a complete and full vindication of his official conduct.

His vindication is said to be mainly based upon the evidence taken before the Committee, showing the injustice of the inferences made by report to TUCKER'S discredit.

THE SPANISH LEGATION.

Señor PRADO, First Secretary of the Spanish Legation, has been appointed by that Government Chargé d'Affaires to Quito. He was married to-day to a daughter of the Brazilian Minister.

THE NAVAL ACADEMY.

Mr. HENRY P. LESLIE, carpenter, United States Navy, and stationed in the Naval Academy Yard at Annapolis, Md., to look after the Government buildings, grounds, &c., formerly occupied by the Professors, officers and Midshipmen now connected with the United States Naval School at Newport, R. I., has been directed by the Navy Department to purchase a number of trees, and plant them at suitable points in the yard, to replace those destroyed or defaced, and to send to the proper Bureau full and detailed estimates for such repairs as may be necessary to be effected on the Academy buildings, which are at this time used as army hospitals for a number of sick and wounded soldiers of the Union army. The Naval Academy, by order of the Secretary of the Navy, was removed from Annapolis in May, 1861 and temporarily located at Fort Adams, Newport, R. I. Recent advices from that place speak in nigh terms of the discipline, efficiency and usefulness which that institution has attained. The cadets are evincing marked proficiency in their studies and duties, and general good health prevails.

A CHANGE.

Gens. BARRY and HARTSUFF have been relieved from duty on the D'UTASSY Court-martial, and Gens. MORELL and CADWALLADER appointed to their places.

THE CASE OF SURGEON LUTHER THOMAS.—We received a letter from LUTHER THOMAS, Surgeon of the Twenty-sixth regiment New-Jersey Volunteers, accompanied by certificates from the officers of the regiment, denying in very explicit and offensive terms the truth of a statement made by our Washington correspondent, that he had been court-martialed and cashiered. We published the substance of the letter. We have before us General Orders, No. 54, setting forth that Surgeon THOMAS was tried by a Court-martial, of which Gen. JOHN COCHRANE was President, Jan. 12, 1863, on two charges,—1, of being "drunk on duty,"—and 2, of "conduct to the prejudice of good order and military discipline." The specifications to the latter charge were four in number. He was found guilty on both charges, and was sentenced "to be cashiered";—but the President remitted the sentence and he was restored to duty. If Surgeon THOMAS in his letter to us had been content with stating the truth, he would have saved us the necessity of thus referring to the matter again.

UNION FAIR IN JERSEY CITY.—The ladies of the Relief Society of Jersey City opened a fair yesterday at the City Hall, which is to continue open to-day and to-morrow, for the benefit of the sick and wounded New-Jersey soldiers. The object is one that must commend itself most warmly to every citizen of that State, and the management of the fair is in such hands as to command for it universal confidence. A fine band of music is in attendance, and the doors are open at 3 o'clock.

Important Arrest of Counterfeiters.

SEIZURE OF ABOUT THREE THOUSAND DOLLARS OF THE SPURIOUS MONEY.

An important discovery was made, yesterday, by the Police of the Eighteenth Precinct. About $3,000 of counterfeit money, consisting of bills and coin, was found secreted in a bale of hay in the feed-store of WM. HAUGHEY, No. 125 East Twenty-first-street, near Third-avenue. Officer SUTTON, with three others, made a thorough search of the premises, and in addition to spurious money, they found a very finely engraved plate, intended for the alteration of bank notes; also, a crucible containing some spelter, a quantity of acids, such as are used in obliterating figures and letters, and several bottles of bank-note printing ink. The officers found no one in charge of the feed-store except THOMAS HAUGHEY, a son of the proprietor. He professed entire ignorance upon the subject of the counterfeits, but it was thought best to secure him, and then await the arrival of the father, whom the son said would be in shortly. The elder HAUGHEY soon made his appearance upon a load of hay, which he had been out to procure. Upon seeing the officers on the sidewalk, he suddenly stopped his wagon and jumped off the opposite side. As soon as he struck the ground he was seen to draw a well-filled wallet from his pocket, and attempt to thrust it into a bale of hay. The officers were too quick for him, however, and they at once took both him and the wallet into their custody. An examination of the latter was made, and about $60 in bills were found; one-half of which, at least, were counterfeit. He was taken to the Station-house and confined to await an examination. He denied all knowledge of the spurious money found on his premises. He is, however, well-known to the Police, who allege that he has recently come from Sing Sing, whither he was sent for two years for counterfeiting. His place has had a bad reputation, and the officers have been trying to get sufficient evidence to detect him for several weeks past. The counterfeit bills which were seized were upon twelve or fourteen different banks. There were over $200 in fives on the Bank of America, this City, and nearly $1,000 in tens on the Atlantic Bank of Boston.

Usage and Law in the Sheriff's Office—The Fees of the "Sheriff's Auctioneer," and Who Pays Them—The "Profits" as a Basis for a Contract.

SUPERIOR COURT—SPECIAL TERM.

Before Justice Barbour.

Henry B. Herts, Jr., vs. Henry Wood.—This was an application for an injunction and receiver made by the plaintiff in an action for a dissolution of the firm of Henry Wood & Co., auctioneers, at No. 450 Broadway. It was shown by the articles of copartnership, and by the papers used upon the motion, that soon after the election of James Lynch, the present Sheriff of this City, he selected the defendant, a brother of Fernando Wood, as his auctioneer; and that, in the month of December, 1861, the parties to the action formed a copartnership by an agreement in uniting for the period of three years, from the 1st day of January, 1862, that being the official term of the Sheriff elect. The plaintiff, as appeared, was a practical and professional auctioneer, and the defendant was not. The plaintiff, as alleged, for a half interest in the business to accrue from Sheriff's sales, paid the defendant the sum of $8,000, and covenanted that the defendant's share of the profits should not be less than $5,000 per year during the three years. The firm of Henry Wood & Co. continued business, as auctioneers to the Sheriff, until about the 1st day of March, 1863, when the Sheriff withheld his patronage and selected other auctioneers. The plaintiff, finding that the business for which he had bargained had been taken from him, desired a return of his money which the defendant had received, alleging that the defendant had been selected to act as auctioneer for one year only. The defendant denied this and claimed that he had been selected by the Sheriff for the full term, and that so far he had acted in good faith toward his partner, and offered to refer it to arbitrators to adjust their differences. The plaintiff declined to enter into an arrangement to arbitrate, but brought this action. It was shown that the practice of the Sheriff had been to take goods seized upon execution to the auction-room, and that they are sold by the auctioneer, who deducted his commissions and other charges from the proceeds, turning the residue over to the Sheriff, who then deducted his fees, as fixed by law, applying the balance upon the execution. That the plaintiff in this action had the management of the Sheriff's sales, and had usually charged five per cent. as commissions, besides other items for storage and labor, amounting in all to about ten per cent. of the sales, and that the auctioneer's commissions of five per cent. were usually divided between the auctioneers and some of the deputies of the Sheriff—a brother of the Sheriff, as alleged, being one of the deputies exacting such bonus.

The counsel for the defendant claimed that his client had throughout acted in good faith toward his partner, and had been in bad faith supplanted by the Sheriff, and had been willing amicably to come to a settlement with the plaintiff; yet being brought into a Court of Justice he must insist that no action could be sustained by the plaintiff.

That there was no such office as "auctioneer to the Sheriff." The Sheriff was bound to make his own sales for the fees which the law gave him, and if he took more fees than prescribed by statute he was liable, criminally, and subject to removal by the Governor. That it was illegal to allow others to take such fees as auctioneers, and it was seen that under such an arrangement as the present, the unfortunate judgment debtor was made to pay ten per cent. as excessive official charges. That the appointment of the defendant was illegal and void, and the agreement of copartnership between the parties for the same reason was illegal and void as against public policy, and in contravention of the statute. Such being the case, the plaintiff, on well settled principles of law could neither recover back what he had paid, nor could the Court aid either party in enforcing any of the provisions of the contract. The Court would leave both parties were they found them.

The defendant, in his answer, consented to a receiver, and asked for an injunction against the plaintiff.

The Court remarked that the Sheriff had no power to appoint an auctioneer, except to be paid him out of his own fees, or unless the parties to the execution assented. That the office of auctioneer to the Sheriff was unknown to the law.

It was accordingly ordered that an injunction issue against both parties, and that a receiver be appointed, without costs.

OBITUARY.

CARLETON.—In Philadelphia, on Saturday, March 28, 1863, HENRY CARLETON, at the advanced age of 78 years.

Judge Carleton was born in Virginia, passed his life to manhood in Georgia, then emigrated to Mississippi, from whence he came to New-Orleans, La., and served honorably as a lieutenant of infantry under Gen. Jackson, in the campaign which terminated Jan. 8, 1815.

In 1815, Mr. Carleton married a lady from the Islands, Mlle. D'Avezac de Castera, sister of Mrs. Edward Livingston, and of Major D'Avezac, late United States Charge d'Affaires to the Hague. Throughout his professional life, Mr. Carleton maintained a close intimacy with Mr. Edward Livingston, of whose legal attainments he entertained an exalted opinion, and whose success in public life he watched with brotherly affection.

Soon after he went to Louisiana, Mr. Carleton undertook and executed in conjunction with the late distinguished Moreau Lislet, a translation of "Las Siete Partidas." That translation is the only one in English in existence, and in preparing it, Mr. Carleton rendered service to law and learning, and, at the same time, erected for himself an enduring monument.

Mr. Carleton was appointed District-Attorney for the Eastern District of Louisiana in 1832. He was a Judge of the Supreme Court of Louisiana, but resigned on account of ill-health in 1839. He was a laborious student, and was well known for his integrity, both as a lawyer and a judge. His chief characteristic through life was an ardent devotion to his country.

Judge Carleton visited Europe several times, and travelled constantly in search of health, until about twelve years since, when he finally settled in Philadelphia.

In his retirement he became a great student of the Bible, Biblical literature and mental philosophy. His knowledge of the New Testament in the original was thorough. He was also familiar with the writings of all metaphysicians, with many of whom he had corresponded and compared opinions; and he published in 1857 a carefully prepared volume on "Liberty and Necessity."

Judge Carleton died on Saturday, March 28, in his 78th year. The cause of his disease was an acute and painful attack of congestion of the lungs, which lasted but 24 hours. Death struck the workman at the anvil; he had only a few days before presented an Essay on Will to the American Philosophical Society, and was in the act of preparing a second. Around his death-bed were scattered his much read Bible, his carefully corrected manuscript, and the books on philosophy he loved so well!

Thus a man has departed who was an ornament to society, and who, during a long life, was ever honorable and just.

Which are the evidences of
LIVER COMPLAINT AND DYSPEPSIA.
It is estimated that seven-tenths of all adult ailments proceed from a diseased and torpid liver. The biliary secretions of the liver overflowing into the stomach poison the entire system and exhibit the above symptoms.
After long research, we are able to present the most remarkable cure for these horrid nightmare diseases the world has ever produced. Within one year, over six hundred and forty thousand persons have taken the Plantation Bitters, and not an instance of complaint has come to our knowledge!
It is a most effectual tonic and agreeable stimulant, suited to all conditions of life.
The reports that it relies upon mineral substances for its active properties, are wholly false. For the public satisfaction, and that patients may consult their physicians, we append a list of its components.
CALISAYA BARK—Celebrated for over two hundred years in the treatment of Fever and Ague, Dyspepsia, Weakness, &c. It was introduced into Europe by the Countess, wife of the Viceroy of Peru, in 1640, and afterwards sold by the Jesuits for the enormous price of its own weight in silver, under the name of Jesuit's Powders, and was finally made public by Louis XVI., King of France. Humboldt makes especial reference to its febrifuge qualities during his South American travels.
CASCARILLA BARK—For diarrhea, colic and diseases of the stomach and bowels.
DANDELION—For inflammation of the loins and dropsical affections.
CAMOMILE FLOWERS—For enfeebled digestion.
LAVENDER FLOWERS—Aromatic, stimulant and tonic—highly invigorating in nervous debility.
WINTERGREEN—For scrofula, rheumatism, &c.
ANISE—An aromatic carminative; creating flesh, muscle and milk; much used by mothers nursing.
Also, clove-buds, orange, carraway, coriander, snake-root, &c.

Another wonderful ingredient, of Spanish origin, imparting beauty to the complexion and brilliancy to the mind, is yet unknown to the commerce of the world, and we withhold its name for the present

AGENCY OF THE
NATIONAL (FIVE-TWENTY YEAR) LOAN.
OFFICE OF LIVERMORE, CLEWS & CO.,
No. 34 Wall-st., New-York.

We take this means of answering the numerous inquiries made of us respecting the United States Five-Twenty Loan, for which we act as agents.

Said Bonds bear six per cent. interest, payable semi-annually, in gold, on the first of May and the first of November.

Have twenty years to run, but being redeemable at the pleasure of the Government after five years, are designated Five-Twenties.

Are issued both in Coupon and Registered Bonds; the former in denominations of 50's, 100's, 500's, 1,000's; the latter in 50's, 100's, 500's, 1,000's, 5,000's and 10,000's.

The Coupon Bonds have coupons attached for twenty years, and are payable transferable to bearer.

The Registered are issued in the name of the purchaser, (whose name and residence are recorded on the books of the Treasury Department at Washington,) and are only transferable by signature, or power of Attorney, before an authorized Government official. The interest is collected in the same manner at the Sub-Treasury nearest the owner's residence.

Both principal and interest are payable in gold, as provided by act of Congress.

Are, (in common with all Government Bonds,) free from taxation by city, town, county or State; and the income derived therefrom is subject only to one-half of the United States tax levied upon incomes derived from other sources.

The privilege of conversion at par will cease on the 1st of July, 1863.

These Bonds are supplied by us at par and accrued interest in currency—interest commencing to the purchaser upon deposit of the money. Hence, the first coupon falling due, being stamped with the date of the issue of the Bond, will be fractional, instead of three per cent., like the succeeding ones.

We shall shortly be prepared to deliver all the various denominations upon application.

The engravers and printers have been unable to furnish blank bonds to the extent required, but every effort is being made to meet the demand, and it is expected that with the increased force now employed upon them, there will be less delay hereafter.

Orders, by mail or otherwise, accompanied by draft on New-York, or current funds, will be promptly responded to. LIVERMORE, CLEWS & CO., Bankers.

JEFFERSONVILLE RAILROAD FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS.
OFFICE JEFFERSONVILLE RAILROAD COMPANY,
JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., March 25, 1863.

In accordance with the terms of an agreement between this Company and the holders of First Mortgage Bonds, dated April 14, 1859, Public Notice is hereby given, that this Company will redeem on the 20th day of April next, at the office of the United States Trust Company, New-York City, at the lowest offer below par, all of the outstanding said Jeffersonville Railroad Company's First Mortgage Bonds. Offers for sale of said bonds may be addressed, under seal, to the United States Trust Company aforesaid, and indorsed "Offer for the First Mortgage Bond (or Bonds) of the Jeffersonville Railroad Company to the Sinking Fund," which offers or bids will be received until noon of the 30th day of April next. And public notice is also hereby given the holders of said First Mortgage Bonds, that in case there are no bids offered to sell all of said bonds now outstanding remaining unpaid, or canceled, as provided in the agreement aforesaid, the United States Trust Company will, upon presentation at their office, No. 48 Wall-st., redeem at par, and accrued interest, all of the entire issue of said First Mortgage Bonds, to the number of 269, not previously advertised for or surrendered. And notice is hereby given, that from and after the 30th day of April, 1863, interest on all said bonds will cease, as provided in said agreement.
J. H. M'CAMPBELL, Secretary and Treasurer.

OFFICE OF THE NEW-YORK CENTRAL RAILROAD CO.,
ALBANY, March 2, 1863.

NOTICE AS TO THE $3,000,000 SEVEN PER CENT. BONDS OF THE COMPANY, DUE 15TH JUNE, 1864.—The Directors of this Company propose to replace its Seven Per Cent. Bonds to become due on the 15th of June, 1864, by an issue, having twenty-five years to run, of Five Per Cent. Coupon Bonds, to mature on the 1st of December, 1887, with interest from the 15th of December last, payable in New-York semi-annually on the 15th of June and 15th of December.

An allowance of Three Per Cent. for the difference in interest between the three coupons yet to mature on the outstanding Bonds, and those of corresponding dates on the proposed issue, will be made to the holders of the former on the surrender of the Bonds held by them to be exchanged for the new Bonds.

This surrender may be made at any time hereafter, accompanied by a memorandum of numbers and amounts, at the Bank of Commerce in New-York, at the office of J. E. THAYER & BROTHER, Boston, or at this office, when the three per cent. above mentioned will be paid in cash.

The delivery of the new bonds will commence, at the same places, on the 20th day of March inst.

The option of the new bonds now offered to the holders of those of 1864, will remain open until and including the 30th day of April next, unless withdrawn, before that time, by at least ten days' previous public notice.

The bonds will be of the denomination of $1,000, only, except that registered bonds, without coupons, of the denomination of $5,000, will be issued to parties applying for them.

A sinking fund of two per cent. per annum on the whole amount of the issue will be applied to its reduction or to providing means towards its payment, in such manner and under such regulations as the Directors may from time to time prescribe.

SECRET DISEASES! SECRET DISEASES!

SAMARITAN'S GIFT!
SAMARITAN'S GIFT!
The most certain remedy ever used.
Yes, a Positive Cure.
BALSAM COPAVIA AND MERCURY DISCARDED
Only ten pills to be taken to effect a cure.

They are entirely vegetable, having no smell nor any unpleasant taste, and will not, in any way, injure the stomach or bowels of the most delicate.

Cures in from two to four days, and recent cases in "twenty-four hours."

No exposure, no trouble, no change whatever.

Price, male packages $2, female $3. Sold by H. C. OAKLEY, No. 11 Park-row. Sent by mail by DESMOND & CO., Philadelphia.

CAUTION TO LADIES.

Madame RESTELL, Female Physician, No. 162 Chambers-street, deems it her duty to caution ladies against impostors, who appropriate her advertisements, word for word, merely substituting some ignorant and wholly irresponsible person as "Madame."

These persons have spurious "Female Monthly Pills" and other poisonous compounds to deprive the unwary or the easily duped, as well of their means as of their health.

That ladies may avoid these impositions, Madame Restell feels called upon to give this caution.

SURE CURE—BY DR. POWERS, SUCCESSfully consulted with Dr. WARD, No. 12 Laight-st. Conducted on the plan of the Hospital des Veneriens, Paris, where those afflicted with any form of private disease can receive prompt treatment, without risk or exposure, viz.: Syphilis, gonorrhœa, gleet, stricture, ulcers, tumors, cancers; secondary and constitutional syphilis, diseases of the kidneys, &c., &c. Thirty years of extensive practice, exclusively devoted to the treatment of those complaints enable us to effect cures in cases where others of less experience have failed. Dr. Powers' Essence of Life restores the vigor of youth in four weeks. This marvelous agent restores manhood to the most shattered constitutions—physical disqualifications, impediments to marriage, thereby speedily cured. The men consult Drs. Ward and Powers, the champions and kings of venereal diseases, possessing the most certain, speedy and only effectual remedies in the world, guarantee a perfect cure, or no charge, in from one to three days. Established in 1840, N. B.—Those who have used their Preventives are never without. Send for a circular. To Ladies—Dr. Powers' Periodical Drops are a safe and certain remedy for monthly irregularities. The above remedies sent by mail. The afflicted should read their circular. Postage free, on receipt of a stamp. Cures warranted.

PRIVATE DISEASES CURED IN THE shortest possible time, by DR. WARD & CO., No. 12 Laight-st., near Canal, without the use of Mercury, loss of time or change of diet. Dr. WARD, from the hospitals of London, Paris and Edinburgh, is the discoverer of the only certain and reliable remedies for diseases of a private character. In 28 years' practice he has cured more cases of Secret Diseases and Wrong Treatment than all others combined. I can and will cure you in less time and expense than any one can or will, and those who have been robbed of their money and health, call; it will take but little money and time to restore you. If you have been unfortunate, call at once. By his special experience in this much-neglected branch of medical science, he is enabled to guarantee a cure in the most complicated cases. Recent cases of Gonorrhœa or Syphilis cured in a few days, without change of diet or hindrance from business. Secondary Syphilis—the last vestige eradicated without the use of Mercury. Involuntary emissions stopped in a short time. Sufferers from Impotency, or loss of sexual power, restored to full vigor in a few weeks. Permanently and speedily cured by a new treatment. Persons at a distance, failing to receive prompt treatment elsewhere, may get a permanent cure effected by writing a full diagnosis of their case, addressed to DR. WARD, No. 12 Laight-st., the only place. Call, send or write.

MADAME RESTELL, FEMALE PHYSICIAN, can be consulted, as usual, at No. 162 Chambers-st., or by letter, and medicine sent by mail. Her FEMALE MONTHLY PILLS are the only medicine married or single ladies can rely upon with safety and certainty. Price $1 a box. Sold at No. 162 Chambers-st., No. 1274 Liberty-st. and No. 463 Hudson-st., New-York. Can also be obtained at No. 214 Grand-st., Williamsburgh, and No. 175 Fulton-st., Brooklyn, or by mail. All other "Female Monthly Pills" are counterfeit.

N. B.—Ladies who desire to avail themselves of Madame RESTELL'S valuable, certain and safe mode of removing obstructions, suppressions, &c., &c., from whatever cause, without the use of medicine, can do so at one interview. Residence, No. 162 Chambers-st., opposite 8th-st.

SOMETHING FOR EVERY LADY.—DR. WARD'S Great Female Benefactor or Golden Regulating Pills. Infallible in correcting, regulating and removing all obstructions, from whatever cause, designed for purely legitimate purposes—to restore the menstrual fluid—and they will never disappoint the anxious patient. Office, No. 12 Laight-st., where Dr. WARD can be consulted, confidentially, day and evening.

DR. HUNTER'S RED DROP RESTORES the vigor of youth in four days. Restores manhood to the most shattered system. No. 3 Division-st., New-York, the only place. Beware of bogus Dr. Hunters. The City is full of knaves, up to every trick to rob Dr. HUNTER of his great reputation as a skillful and reliable physician. He has no other office but No. 3 Division-st. Established in 1834.

PRIVATE CONSULTATION.—DR. HUNTER has, for thirty years, confined his attention to diseases of a certain class, in which he has treated no less than fifty thousand cases, without an instance of failure. His great remedy, HUNTER'S RED DROP, cures certain diseases, when regular treatment and all other remedies fail; cures without dieting or restriction in the habits of the patient; cures without the disgusting and sickening effects of all other remedies; cures in new cases in less than six hours; cures without the dreadful consequent effects of mercury, but possesses the peculiarly valuable property of annihilating the rank and poisonous taint that the blood is sure to absorb, unless his remedy is used. That is what he claims for it, and what no other will accomplish. Its fame in this respect has become so well known, that scientific men in every department of medical knowledge begin to realize it, for hardly a week passes that he is not consulted by druggists, chemists and physicians, in regard to some pitiful patient who has exhausted the whole field of the faculty, and still the disease will appear. His popularity is so great, that there is not a quack doctor in the City that has not attacked it, and when they find their lies are not so easily swallowed, they then pretend that they can make it. It is $1 a vial, and cannot be obtained genuine anywhere but at the old office, No. 3 Division-st. Book for 15 three-cent stamps, 300 pages, 100 colored illustrations. The best work out.

NEWS FROM NEW-ORLEANS.

the One Hundred and Sixty-eighth New-York regiment, and a company of the Twelfth Connecticut regiment, under command of Lieut. BUCKLEY.

So far as now ascertained, there were only nine killed on the Diana.

The names of all are not yet known. Among them are Capt. PETERSON, Master's Mate DOLLIVER and Boatswain's Mate MUMFORD.

Capt. JEWETT was wounded in the head, and is now doing well.

Executive Officer HALL, of the Diana, was severely wounded in the head.

First Lieut. ALLEN, of Gen. WEITZEL'S Staff, was wounded in the arm and shoulder, but is now doing well.

Lieut. FRANCIS, of Co. K, Twelfth Connecticut regiment, was shot through the chest, and probably will not survive.

Among those wounded more or less severely, of the the One Hundred and Sixty-eighth New-York Regiment, are privates Simonds, Cater, Verplank, Clark, White, Bassett, Johnson, and Macpherson. From the Twelfth Connecticut were privates Montour, Swift, Steele, Tripps and Dowd.

The gunboat Calhoun went up from Brashear City to Pattersonville yesterday noon, under a flag of truce, to secure the bodies of the killed, carry provisions to the wounded, and, if possible, secure the parole of the prisoners.

The Calhoun returned during the evening, bringing the bodies of Capt. PETERSON, Master's Mate DOLLIVER, and all the privates of the two companies of infantry, and the sailors of the Diana. All the officers were retained, and, with the exception of Lieut. ALLEN, sent to New-Iberia. Lieut. ALLEN is at the house of Dr. GRANT, in Pattersonville. The paroled men report that they were very kindly treated during their short imprisonment. They were kept in a guard-house thatched with palmetto leaves, and fed on corn bread and salt meat. Every attention was paid to the wounded by the women of Pattersonville. Everything in their power to bestow was freely given, although they said that there was not a barrel of flour in the place to make a dish of gruel from. They promised to cook the articles sent up to the wounded, and see that they were provided for.

Col. GRAY was in command of the post.

Ninety-nine of our men were paroled. Their names have not yet been sent in to the Adjutant-General's office.

There are several companies of Arizonian and Camanche Indians at the rebel camp. They are filthy and ragged, armed with every kind of weapon, and nearly all drunk when the Calhoun was at Pattersonville.

The Diana has been sent to Franklin.

AFFAIRS BEYOND THE MISSISSIPPI.

TRADE ACROSS THE RIO GRANDE.

An immense trade is carried on over the Rio Grande, and our informant (says the Era) knew of a train of 600 carts loaded with cotton, which was on its way to Brownsville. These loads will average about six bales each, and probably convey not less than 3,500 bales of cotton. This will be exchanged for warlike stores, blankets, ammunition, etc., which will be carried back by the same train.

When the Honduras left there were 80 vessels at the mouth of the Rio Grande, from various parts of the world.

There are many lighters from New-York, which charge enormous prices for their services. They charge $2 per barrel for lighting flour and $5 per bale for cotton, and charge $5 for carrying a man to or from a vessel. And this has all to be paid in specie.

TEXAS TROOPS IN THE REBEL SERVICE.

Gov. LUBBOCK, in his message to the Legislature, announces that he will not be a candidate for re-election, but that he will follow the "impulses of his heart," and take a more active part in the war. The Governor, in his message, states that Texas has furnished eighty-seven thousand troops for the rebel army. He recommended a State conscription law, to embrace all between the ages of sixteen and sixty; and this law has been adopted by the Legislature, and is now in force. The Governor stated that, according to the closest calculation, this law would add about 27,000 men to the rebel army. Under its provisions there are no exceptions; every man who can stand upon his feet is to be forced into the army.

TROUBLE BETWEEN TEXAS AND MEXICO.

From the New-Orleans Era, 31st.

The United States steamer Honduras arrived here yesterday from the Rio Grande, bringing about 260 Texas refugees.

The Honduras left New-Orleans on the 2d inst., and arrived at the mouth of the Rio Grande on the 6th.

On the morning of the 15th a rebel force of about 150 men crossed the Rio Grande into Mexico at the mouth of the river, and captured Col. E. J. DAVIS, of the First Texas Cavalry; Capt. W. W. MONTGOMERY, of the same regiment, and three soldiers.

About 150 refugees were lying there waiting an opportunity to get on board the Honduras, they being prevented by the rough weather.

Lieut. RUDITZKI and Capt. HUSTON made their escape to the steamer, when they immediately started for Galveston, and brought the bark Arthur back with them.

The Mexican authorities immediately demanded the return of the prisoners kidnapped under their flag. Accordingly, on the 18th, Col. DAVIS and the three soldiers taken were returned by the rebels to Matamoras. They did not return Capt. MONTGOMERY, however, and would not tell where he was. Private advices say he was hanged by the rebels, which is undoubtedly true. Col. DAVIS and Capt. MONTGOMERY were taken from the house of the Commandante.

The raid was made just before day on the morning of the 15th. Lieut.-Col. JESSE STANCEL, Capt. HUSTIS and Lieut. RUDITZKI, narrowly escaped the grasp of the marauding traitors. These three officers, with half a dozen Mexicans, afterwards drove about fifty of the rebels from in front of the Commandante's house to the river, firing into them and wounding three or four, two of whom, it was afterwards ascertained, died that same evening. Some sixty others, who lay concealed in the sand bank in the rear of the little village, now came out and had the place completely surrounded, and the officers and their small party of Mexicans being unarmed, with the exception of a few six-shooters were entirely at their mercy.

They tied Col. DAVIS when they got him over into Texas, but untied him when they started for Fort Brown. They also tied Capt. MONTGOMERY on his horse. He and Col. DAVIS rode together until within five miles of Fort Brown, when the Captain was ordered by the rebel Maj. CHELTON to fall to the rear, since which time nothing had been heard from him, except a report that he had been hanged.

Capt. BREWER, a traitor of Northern birth, after Col. DAVIS was taken from the house, returned and said to Mrs. DAVIS, "Madam, this expedition was gotten up as much for your benefit as your husband's. You must leave here."

After the return of the captured officers and soldiers by the rebels, the refugees (116 in number) were got on board the steamer. There are a number of families included in the number. About 75 men were left at Matamoras, not being able to get on board of the steamer, on account of the rebel raid.

The bark Arthur, after she had been brought around from Galveston, threw two shells into the rebel quarters, on the night of the 25th, at which time the Honduras left for this city, which place she reached on 29th, (yesterday,) and anchored in the river until this morning.

Col. DAVIS, Lieut.-Col. STANCEL, Capt. MONTGOMERY and the two Lieutenants were officers of the First Texas cavalry, recruited here for Gen. HAMILTON'S brigade.

Col. DAVIS was on board the steamship Cumbria when the rebels laid a trap for her capture in Galveston Bay. He returned on her at that time to this city, and subsequently reached the Rio Grande by another route.

Advices from Matemoras are to the 25th March, and from authentic sources we are enabled to lay before our readers many interesting particulars of the position of affairs on the Rio Grande and and in Texas.

The rebel forces on the upper Rio Grande have been moved and concentrated nearer the mouth of the rever. This gives refugees a good chance to escape into Mexico, and they are improving it by hundreds.

Most of the Texas refugees have already enlisted in Col. DAVIS' cavalry regiment, and are mostly deserters from the rebel army. Seventy-five deserters are now awaiting transportation in Matamoras, to come and enroll themselves in the same 1st. Among those who escaped and went over to Col. DAVIS at Matamoras was a rebel Lieutenant.

We have received a copy of the Brownsville Flag, of the 20th of March, which contains the rebel account of the capture of Col. DAVIS and other officers on Mexican soil. It states that Capt. MONTGOMERY was hung, and calls Col. DAVIS and his men "renegades."

The rebel authorities are evidentlp in a state of great alarm, lest the violation of neutrality should involve them in hostilities with Mexico. The Flag has an editorial of nearly two columns on the subject, which was evidently inspired by Gen. BEE or some of his officers.

NEWS FROM THE SOUTHWEST.

CINCINNATI, Wednesday, April 8.

A special dispatch to the Commercial from Murfreesboro, says':

"A batch of rebel newspapers have been received. They are filled with tirades against the government contractors, and are full of grief over short supplies.

The Charleston Mercury says that the Yankees evacuated Jacksonville, Florida, with all their stolen property just before the rebels under Gen. FINNEGAN got ready to attack them.

Advices from Mississippi to the 1st inst. state that a terrible storm had taken place at Greenwood. Trees were blown in every direction. Four soldiers of the 47th Indiana regiment were killed and two wounded.

The rebels are building batteries on the Yazoo Pass, three miles from Greenwood.

The ram Switzerland has been repaired from the injuries she received in passing the rebel betteries at Vicksburgh, and has been sent up the Red River.

FROM THE STATE CAPITAL.

A Mischievous Rumor—The Anti-Gold Speculation Bill—The Poultney Estate—The Broadway Railroad Corporators—The Bill Ordered to a Third Reading in the Senate—The Chenango Canal Extension, &c., &c.

From Our Own Correspondent

ALBANY, Wednesday, April 8, 1863.

A mischievous rumor having been put afloat, to the effect that Comptroller ROBINSON had determined to contest the appropriation to the Susquehannah Railroad Company, it is proper to say that, necessarily there can be nothing in it. The term of office of the present Comptroller will expire before an opportunity will occur for anything of the kind, even if the disposition existed. By the terms of the law the tax will be in the ensuing levy, and the money will come into the State Treasury subsequent to the expiration of the present Comptroller's term of office. Whether or not Comptroller ROBINSON would, if he could, contest the payment of the appropriation, I have no direct information; but I very much doubt whether there is the least ground for attributing to him the views ascribed by rumor. It is known for a certainty that Gov. SEYMOUR has signed the bill; and the people along the route have for some days been celebrating their success. They have a clear right to do so.

The action of the Senate leaves scarcely any doubt of the passage of a stringent anti-gold speculation law, embracing some of the features of the two bills introduced, with the more stringent features of Mr. DEAN'S bill retained.

Last evening, the bill relating to the celebrated Poultney estate, was ordered to a third reading in the House after an interesting debate. It was ably supported by Messrs. SHERWOOD and BEMISS, and opposed by Messrs. JOHNSON and MURPHY. Judge DEAN made some remarks on the general features of the bill. The vote ordering the bill to a third reading, while it was not a test vote, did not evince the necessary number to pass it finally, though I believe its supporters are hopeful.

The Special Committee in the Senate, charged with the duty of ascertaining more fully concerning the identity of corporators in the George Law Railroad bill, presented a majority and minority report this morning, the friends previously making an unsuccessful effort to get the bill up. Messrs. MURPHY and CONNOLLY reported so far as they had been able to ascertain, (which was, virtually, nothing at all,) and Mr. FOLGER reported concerning what could not be ascertained, to wit.: that some dozen or more of the corporators could not be ascertained to have any real existence—thus sustaining the charge of intended fraud in this respect. [The Associated Press having prepared a synopsis of the two reports, reference is made thereto.]

The effect of these two reports—substantially but one—cannot be other than hurtful to the bill. The effect, in case the bill is not killed outright, will be to fill up the list of corporators with names almost necessarily not in sympathy with the original scheme.

I understand that Mr. STEWART, Mr. HAIGHT, and others who are here to oppose the bill, are much encouraged with the prospect of defeating its passage. They certainly had the advantage in the moves today.

In the House, to-day, there was another flood of petitions from nearly every part of the State, in favor of the $2,100,000 offer by Mr. STEWART. These are in the nature of instructions, and cannot go for naught. In these times $2,000,000 are not to be thrown away with impunity.

In connection with these petitions, Mr. DEPEW offered a resolution declaring it inexpedient to make a free gift of a franchise so valuable as the Broadway, and directing the Railroad Committee to report a bill in conformity with Mr. STEWART'S offer, the avails thereof to be devoted to improving the defences of the New-York harbor, the payment of bounties or some other great public purposes asking aid. This resolution not being in order, was not acted on.

The last two weeks the House has gone ahead at a rapid rate. Up to the hour of adjournment to-day, the total number of bills is 430; in the Senate about 250. This may be regarded not a little remarkable, in view of the fact that the House lost nearly a month in organizing.

The Committee appointed to investigate the charges preferred by Mr. T. C. FIELDS against Speaker CALLICOT have closed their labors, except to prepare and submit their report to the House. These labors have been considerably curtailed under the rulings of the Committee, on questions as they arose, which rulings were in strict conformity with well-settled principles, the rights of parties and common justice. In the first place, the bulk of Mr. FIELDS' indictment, which related to alleged transactions anterior to the election of the defendant, was quashed by the unanimous concurrence of the Committee, which, with equal unanimity, limited the investigation to the date of the election of the defendant to this House.

The next material ruling of the Committee was on the motion to strike out the charges and specifications relating to certain alleged "promises or arrangement pending the canvass for the Speakership," to wit: that if elected the defendant would go into an election for United States Senator, as required by law, would appoint the Committees, and that he would do other things, which, so far from being "corrupt" or "criminal" were in the line of duty and in accordance with law. This motion was granted, the Committee being divided politically on the question—three to two.

The next ruling of the Committee was to exclude testmony relating to transactions not within the knowledge of the defendant, to acts not done by his agent, and of which he was not in any way cognizant. On this motion the Committee were divided as before—3 to 2.

These rulings reduced the investigation to the alleged loan or payment of $1,200 to the accused. On this point the proof was explicit and to the effect, that the money was loaned to the defendant by HAMILTON HARRIS, Esq., who testified that between him and the defendant nothing was said or took place in any way, immediately or remotely, connecting the Speakership, or the canvass for the same, or the future action of the defendant, with the loan or the transaction. It was purely a business transaction—a loan on security offered.

But his enemies, who came to the Capital determined at all events and by any means to crush him, had got hold of this $1,200 debt, and in the spirit of persecution, with threats and clamor, pressed for instant payment. In ordinary times this would have been little or nothing to bear; but there are times when even a straw will break the camel's back. In this extremity, Mr. CALLICOT borrowed the money and paid the debt.

This is the whole of the investigation—ending in smoke, so far as the high-sounding charges, which fairly glared from the record, over the signature of Mr. T. C. FIELDS, are concerned; and in the utter discomfiture of the enemies of Mr. CALLICOT.

It is understood that the Committee, or a majority thereof, - for two reports may be expected,—will be in in a few days. It is fair to presume that then Mr. FIELDS will renew his motion of Saturday, to instruct the Committee to include matters set aside as having no possible connection with the subject.

An item or two in the history of the contest for the Speakership has come out, more or less material to a proper understanding of the chapter that will long be famous in the annals of our State. Mr. WEED inserts in the Evening Journal a card to say that "when it became apparent that neither party in the Assembly was strong enough to elect a Speaker, he (I) persistently urged a compromise which should place Hon. Mr. THOMPSON, of Monroe, or Hon. Mr. DEPEW, of Westchester, in the chair."

It is due to the truth of history to say that but for the extreme course of the Democrats, under the lead of Messrs. FIELDS, DEAN and MURPHY, one of these gentlemen would in all probability have been chosen Speaker. It is equally true, however, that a point in the contest was soon reached when a "compromise" on either side would have been dishonorable; not that these gentlemen are not themselves honorable, but because the attitude assumed by FIELDS, DEAN and MURPHY was such as admitted of no "compromise." They said the majority should not rule; they set the rules of the House and decency at defiance; they threatened violence, and said that though Mr. CALLICOT might be elected to the Speakership, he should never occupy the chair; they threatened bloody revolution, and for days a dark cloud hung over the Capital. To have abandoned Mr. CALLICOT, under such circumstances, to have failed to do everything, to have omitted anything, to have "compromised" on anybody, would have been faithlessness to the vital principle in government. The faithfulness with which that principle was adhered to insured its triumph and the discomfiture of the revolutionists, though against what "persistent" efforts has not, I believe, before been proclaimed, though well known at the time.

Another scrap in the same chapter is brought to light, more by influence than by direct statement, drawn from a brief article in the Standard and Statesman of this city. It has for some time been more than suspected that more than a questionable agency was at work, but for which Mr. FIELDS would have abandoned the idea of preferring charges against Mr. CALLICOT. That suspicion derives sufficient confirmation, if any evidence was needed, from the greedy use made of Mr. WEED'S incidental connection with the $1,200 draft, to gratify a lodged hate against him by one who, in thus manifesting it, discloses the agency that not only brought about the Lawrence resolution goading Mr. FIELDS on, but that furnished the ignis fatuus that served the purpose of allowing him no other end than vexatious discomfiture, while it gave another a malicious gratification, in violation of faith and honorable engagements.

The equenimity of the Democrats, particularly the Regency or anti-WOOD kind, over the Connecticut election is so noticeable as to provoke the suggestion that they are not altogether without special consolation under defeat. Indeed it is suspected that the defeat of SEYMOUR, their candidate, was more desired by the Regency managers here than his election; since the latter event would have had the seeming of the success of WOOD and his treasonable doctrines. From these the Regency have resolved to cut loose, at all hazards. This purpose is avowed openly and will be the rule of action by the Regency and Cogger Regency.

On the other hand, WOOD is preparing to place himself in an attitude of defence, and threatens to carry the war into Africa, or wherever else it suits his purposes. To this end he is said to be selecting his faithful agents in different parts of the State, with a view of a State as well as a City organization.

The Pennsylvania Senatorial Bribery Case.

GEN. CAMERON FOUND GUILTY OF BRIBERY.

HARRISBURGH, Wednesday, April 8.

The majority of the Senatorial Investigating Committee to inquire whether unlawful means were employed to secure the recent election of United States Senator, made a report to-day, finding Gen. CAMERON guilty on the charges of bribery preferred against him by JEFFERSON BOYER, a member of the Legislature. After arguing the case strongly against the witnesses in CAMERON'S defence, they say BOYER'S statement is corroborated in nearly all the leading details by testimony of other witnesses, and it appears from the testimony that other members of the Legislature besides BOYER were offered money, and a plan to induce him to vote for CAMERON. It is understood that the minority report, signed by the Republican members of the Committee, will differ materially from these conclusions. The testimony is very voluminous, occupying over 130 pages.

The Names—Give us the Names!

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

Lord LYONS, in his letter to Earl RUSSELL, of the 17th of November last, which, fortunately for the cause of truth, though doubtless by mere oversight, has been published, presents to us the degrading spectacle of men, assuming to be our "leaders" and so representing themselves to him, crouching and cringing at the feet of British royalty and bowing the knee to one of the subordinates of that power. To use his own words:

"On my arrival in New-York several of the Democratic leaders sought interviews with me The subject uppermost in their minds, when they were talking with me, was foreign meditation between the North and South." "They seemed to think that this mediation must come at last, but they were very much afraid of its coming too soon; they apprehended that a premature proposal of foreign intervention would afford the means of reviving the war spirit and thus defeating the peaceful plans." "I listened with attention to the accounts they gave me of the plans and hopes of the Democratic party, and I perceived a desire to put an end to the war, even at the risk of losing the Southern States altogether; but they did not think it prudent to avow this desire; and, indeed, some hints of it, dropped before the elections, were so ill received, that a strong declaration to the contrary was deemed necessary by the Democratic leaders." "If their own party were in power, they would accept an offer of mediation." "In the offer they would desire as little prominence as possible to be given to Great Britain." "My own opinion is, that the present is not a favorable moment for making an offer of mediation; it might embarrass the Democratic party, and oblige them, in order to maintain their popularity, to make some public declaration against it, and thus make it difficult for them to accept a similar offer at a more propitious time." "It is, indeed, urged by some that mediation should be offered for the purpose of clearing the way to a RECOGNITION of the Southern Confederacy."

But, his "Lordship" not being so deeply imbued with enmity to our Government and with sympathy for rebellion as were the "Democratic leaders," says, "I do not see the advantage of this." And, finally, this English emissary, fresh from his secret conferences with these "Democratic leaders," says:

"I had heard it mentioned that Great Britain should recognize the independence of the South, as far as possible, with a view to impede the efforts to reconstruct the Union. The advocates of this opinion consider a reunion probable, and that the first result would be a combined attack on Canada. I do not share in these apprehensions."

Then, to sum up all, this British Minister, under the influence of his consultations, says "all hope of reconstructing the Union seems to be fading away, even from the minds of those most ardently desiring it."

What a spectacle is presented in this solemn, official statement of this Minister to his masters! Men claiming to be "Democratic leaders," doubtless citizens of this Republic, enjoying its blessings and its protection, and owing to it, accordingly, fidelity and allegiance, in private conclave with a foreign Minister, (and that foreign Minister the Minister of Great Britain!) plotting the destruction of their own Government, and devising "plans," and expressing "hopes" for the success of an unhallowed rebellion against it!! If this Minister deserves, as he richly does, the severest punishment his Government can devise for his insidiously combining with traitors to the Government to which he is accredited, to inflict on that Government what they all considered a death-wound, what punishment should be meted out to these so-called "Democratic" plotters against the nation's life? Had the Tories of the Revolution and the Hartford Conventionists of the war of 1812 been discovered in the same acts of complicity with a foreign emissary, we all know what would have been their instant fate. But the extreme penalty is not required for the men now in question; all that is wanted is, the disclosure of their names. The universal execration that would attend them through life would be their merited, as it would be their inevitable reward. Base, cringing supphants at the feet of royalty, poor toad-eaters of a British lord, secret plotters against your country in its day of peril, cowardly sympathizers with the greatest crime of ancient or modern times, show yourselves—give us your names—that we may put on you the mark of Cain forever!

Democrats! you spew out the impudent assumption of these men that they are your "leaders."

Democrats! Americans, of all parties and of all nationalities! Lovers of liberty everywhere! demand that these men come forth from their hiding places to meet the scorn, the contempt, the detestation of each and every man of you!!

It would be no violation of confidence on the part of Lord LYONS, under these extraordinary circumstances, to disclose the names of these persons, and thus in some degree palliate the great wrong in which he (we trust ignorantly and unwittingly) has participated; and thus in a measure redeem from undeserved disgrace the name of DEMOCRAT.

NEW-YORK WEEKLY TIMES.

The NEW-YORK WEEKLY TIMES is published this morning, and may be had at the counter of the publication office, in wrappers, ready for mailing.

In addition to the latest intelligence by telegraph up to the moment of going to press, there will be found in the current number full details of all military movements in the different departments, from the pens of our special correspondents. Also, all official orders, reports and documents, and the latest and fullest Washington news. European news, with graphic letters from our correspondents in London and Paris, giving the tone of public feeling abroad, is made a special and permanent feature. In addition to Editorials on all the current topics of the day, the WEEKLY TIMES has a page of carefully prepared commercial matter, giving the latest financial news and market reports; items of agriculture and domestic interest, compiled from sources many of which are otherwise inaccessible to the American reader; and marriages and deaths of the week.

The "WEEKLY RECORD," or news summary—being a careful synopsis and digest of the news of the day, both rebellion and general—is alone worth double the subscription price to the paper, as it preserves in a condensed and conveniently classified form all news of interest, and must prove valuable as a record to all time.
